

Morse and Pastore Clash in Debate on Satellite Measure

Civil Rights Amendment to Bill Brings Bitter Exchange

BY JOHN CHADWICK 63-27 vote to choke off their filibuster by invoking the Senate's debate-limitation rule.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators on opposite sides of the private vs. public ownership battle over a space communications system tangled in a heated clash today.

Sens. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., shouted angrily at each other in a dispute touched off by a proposed civil rights amendment to the administration's satellite communications bill.

"I'll take you on on civil rights any day," Morse declared, advancing toward Pastore.

"Any time, any where, any place," Pastore shouted right back.

Manager for Each senator had his right arm outstretched, pointing directly at the other.

Pastore is the floor manager for the bill, which would set up a private, government-regulated corporation to own and operate the U.S. portion of a global communications network using satellites as relay stations.

Morse is one of the leaders of the government-ownership advocates, who suffered a series of defeats Tuesday starting with a MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's space twins came down to the earth in the 1930s as the land to which the area is that from which the leader was aloft for nearly launched.

Jubilant Russians hailed their record-breaking feats as a great stride toward manned shots at the moon and other planets and toward rocket transport within the 20th century for travelers on the shrinking earth.

"Cosmos! Cosmos! Cosmos!" shouted young Russians in Moscow's Red Square. Waves of enthusiasm swept the nation.

6 Minutes Apart Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, who were shot aloft in separate satellites a day apart last weekend, landed six minutes apart in the virgin lands area south of Karaganda, Kazakhstan, 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

"Both cosmonauts feel well," a government bulletin announced.

Radio Moscow said a special team of experts, doctors, friends and journalists welcomed them. Baths and shaves appeared to be their first needs.

"The scientific and technical tasks of the unprecedented flight were solved completely," a broadcast announcement said. It added that the space men demonstrated both extreme courage and "the high moral qualities of Soviet man."

Studied by Doctors Both brilliantly fulfilled their task, said the Soviet news agency Novosti, and "for the next few days will remain under observation of doctors to study the influences of prolonged space flight on the human organism."

Tass said Nikolayev landed his

Girl's Body Found Week After Male Companion Is Slain

BYRON, Ill. (AP) — Police probed an apparent double slaying today after the body of 18-year-old Ann Bergman was found being offered as fast as amendments Tuesday night in dense undergrowth just off a country road.

The badly decomposed body of the young woman was still clad in the white blouse and black and white slacks in which she was last seen alive a week ago. The body was barefoot.

Authorities said they were unable immediately to determine the cause of death.

An all-night guard was kept by Ogle County sheriff's deputies and state police over an estimated 500 square yard area around where the body was found by Robert Boehm of Byron. A thorough search of the area was planned during daylight hours when there was less chance of disturbing possible clues.

Man's Body Found The Bergman girl was seen early Wednesday when she left a Rockford tavern with a friend, Octavio Martinez, 32.

Less than half an hour later, a passing motorist found the body

Justice Bureau Said To Be Ready to Enter Fight for Integration

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—An authoritative source said today the U.S. Justice Department is prepared to throw its full weight into the desegregation fight in this racial trouble spot.

The source is a member of the city government who asked that his name be withheld.

Integrationists, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., repeatedly have urged such action by the federal government. Thus far, the Justice Department has limited its role to sending representatives here as observers and joining with Negroes in fighting the city's request for a federal injunction outlawing mass demonstrations and similar protest activities.

King has said Negroes definitely will try to enroll in white junior and senior high schools next month.

Robbers Seize $250,000 to $2 Million In Holdup of Massachusetts Mail Truck

Total Loot May be More Than Obtained in 1950 Brink's Raid

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—The cars, are believed to have taken part in the robbery.

The actual loot figure could not be learned immediately as the Tuesday night totaled approximately $1.5 million. This exceeds the loss in the nation's previous biggest cash haul, the Brink's robbery, in which $1,219,000 was stolen in 1950.

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—A well-rehearsed gang armed with submachine guns robbed a U.S. mail truck Tuesday night of an estimated $250,000 to $2 million. If the larger figure proves correct it would top the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery in Boston in 1950.

Frozen Road Funds Freed $1.9 Billion Made Available to States To Speed Up Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government released $1.9 billion in frozen highway funds today that will seep into the economy over the next few months.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced the allocation to enable a speedup in federal-state road building programs.

Wisconsin's share of the $1.9 billion released from the fund is $32,962,000.

The money had been frozen in the Highway Trust Fund since 1959 to ensure the fund's solvency.

Hodges said the Commerce Department, in consultation with the Treasury and Bureau of the Budget, reviewed the trust fund and decided the $1.9 billion could be released.

"Enough money will be held in the trust fund to preserve its integrity and to meet all obligations," said the announcement.

"This added $1.9 billion will allow states that have taken the initiative and have their plans ready to move ahead more rapidly with the modernization of their road systems," said Hodges. "It does not give these states extra money for their total program but helps them speed up construction."

Regents Approve 4 UW Buildings to Cost $9 Million

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin Board of Regents executive committee has approved plans and specifications for four new buildings to cost $9 million.

Included is a $4.6 million laboratory to be named in honor of the late Harry L. Russell, a Wisconsin pioneer in plant science entomology. Russell was dean of the College of Agriculture from 1907 to 1931.

The laboratory will house departmental offices, classrooms, special purposes laboratories and plant growth chambers. The National Institute of Health will contribute $200,000 toward the cost of the structure.

Other buildings approved by the committee Tuesday were a $2.7 million cancer research laboratory, a $1.4 million veterinary science building and a $315,000 radiotherapy unit for University Hospitals.

The committee also approved preliminary plans for construction of a freshman-sophomore university center on Kohler Co. property just west of Sheboygan.

112 Out of Postal Jobs In Dope Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—A total of 112 workers at Chicago's huge main post office have quit or been fired in the wake of a 10-month investigation of a narcotics ring operating in the building.

The resignations of 57 post office employees were announced Tuesday by Jerome M. Williamson, postal inspector in charge of the investigation. He said all were involved in the drug ring.

Williamson said no court action is contemplated against the 57 because of insufficient evidence.

Thirty-eight persons, including 31 postal workers, were indicted July 26 by a federal grand jury. Trial is scheduled for 36 of them next month on charges of selling, transferring or possessing marijuana, heroin or cocaine.

Williamson said 24 other post office employees resigned before the indictment. They will not be prosecuted because of lack of evidence, he said.

Although no criminal action is contemplated against many of those allegedly involved in the drug ring, Williamson said none will be able to get government jobs in the future.

The arrests and resignations came after a long investigation during which federal agents posed as mail clerks.

Stockpiling Inquiry Humphrey, Former Treasury Chief, Wants to Testify at Senate Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee presses an investigation today into allegations of tax dodges and huge stockpile profits of a nickel firm once headed by former Secretary of the Treasury during the George M. Humphrey.

The charges were made before the subcommittee Tuesday by Walter H. Henson, a government auditor who testified he spent months checking into the M. A. Hanna Co. mining complex.

Wants to Testify A company official denied the firm destroyed any records "that should properly be kept."

Humphrey, 72-year-old Cleveland industrialist who was secretary of the Treasury during the first four years of the Eisenhower administration, asked to testify Thursday.

"Everything I have to say about this whole thing will be said when I testify in Washington Thursday morning," said Humphrey in Cleveland.

Humphrey is honorary board chairman and director of the Hanna Co. His son, Gilbert W. Humphrey, is chairman of the board.

The subcommittee asked for more testimony about the company's profits from the nickel national defense stockpile.

"We want to see if the profits were fair or unconscionable," said Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., chairman of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Henson, a General Accounting Office supervisor, spent a long day before the subcommittee telling of the intricate affairs of the Hanna firm and its subsidiaries.

Under questioning from Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., Henson said the Hanna mining interest's gross profits from the nickel stockpile contracts may exceed $39 million on an investment of about $4.5 million.

He testified that checks and invoices for the period of 1953-1954 were missing from Hanna Co.

Industrial Index, Housing Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two important economic indicators—industrial production and housing starts—both showed increases in July.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Tuesday that the industrial production index rose one point to a record high level of 119 points in July, based on 100 points for average output in 1957.

The Federal Housing Administration reported a 9 per cent gain in housing starts and a slight advance in requests for FHA mortgage insurance.

The Federal Reserve Board said the index, which measures the production of factories, mines and utilities showed widespread increases. Auto production rose by 10 per cent following settlement of a strike against the Ford Motor Co. which curtailed production in June.

Laos Forces Will Free Americans

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Souphanouvong said today Americans held captive by his Pathet Lao forces for more than a year will be freed Friday and flown immediately to Vientiane.

The pro-Communist deputy premier had announced before that the prisoners were on their way to a liberation point but this was the first time he fixed a definite date for their release.

Souphanouvong told newsmen "I can not tell you their number," but a U.S. Embassy spokesman said five Americans are known to be prisoners.

The embassy listed them as: NBC cameraman Grant Wolfkill, Shelton, Wash.; John McMorrow, Galloway, Tenn.; and John Shore Jr., Brooklyn, N.Y., civilian airman; Maj. Lawrence Bailey, assistant military attaché at U.S. Embassy here; and Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio.

Arsonist Brush Fire Rages in California

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP)—An arsonist-set brush fire which swept over 1,750 acres of valuable watershed and burned four buildings blazed unchecked on its northeastern flank today.

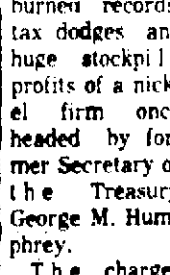

And 95 miles northwest of here at Ojai on the other side of Los Angeles a second blaze had swept over 750 acres. Its cause was not determined.

Authorities said the Claremont fire was 75 per cent contained. It ranged from six to seven miles north of Claremont.

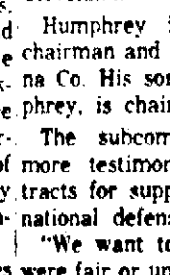

Jerry D. Taylor, 30, an unemployed truck driver of nearby La Verne, told investigators he started the blaze because of an irresistible impulse.

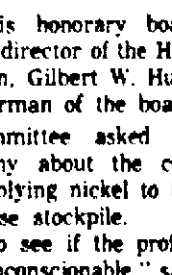

Gilbert and G. M. Humphrey as to who ordered the records destroyed or why, advised the senators to "go to the top" and ask Humphrey and his son about the missing records.

Signs Point to More Problems in Labor

Workers Demanding Better Terms

BY NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rising tendency of labor union members to reject labor contract terms worked out by their own negotiators is alarming federal officials charged with maintaining the nation's industrial peace.

They feel it is bound to increase labor-management distrust and lead to more and longer strikes. Increasingly, union and management negotiators will reach an agreement after hard bargaining only to have the affected workers repudiate the pact and send the union negotiators back with orders to get more.

Workers' Revolt

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service conducted a nationwide survey earlier this year to sample the number of settlements vetoed by workers. It produced a proportion so high the figure is withholding the figure pending a recheck of its accuracy.

Among reasons being assigned for the worker revolts are these: Union members have become accustomed during inflationary periods to sizable regular gains in wages and benefits and are balking now that inflation is virtually halted at more moderate terms.

Workers are less disciplined than they used to be and some of their local union leaders are sometimes operating counter to instructions from their national union chiefs.

Growing Promises

Growing promises by rival unions of what they could accomplish make the workers more demanding on their own union negotiators.

There have been a number of recent painful public examples of the problem. One such revolt concerned carpenters in San Francisco, another metal trades workers at a key Atomic Energy Commission plant near Denver, and a third construction workers at the Polaris submarine yards of the General Dynamics Corp. at Groton, Conn.

U.S. Preparing Venus Rocket

Spacecraft Should Pass Within 10,000 Miles of Planet

BY HOWARD BENERICK

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States is preparing for its second attempt within a month to launch an interplanetary spaceship to probe mysteries of cloud shrouded Venus.

If the launching, scheduled next Monday at the earliest, is successful, the Mariner II spacecraft will pass within 10,000 miles of Venus early in December and relay vital data about the planet to earth stations 36 million miles away.

An identical Mariner I launching failed July 22 when a faulty guidance equation caused the Atlas Agena B booster rocket to veer off course. The rocket was destroyed by the range safety officer after 290 seconds of flight.

Wait 19 Months

If Mariner II also fails, American scientists must wait 19 months before Venus again is in favorable position for a launching. The Russians launched the only previous Venus rocket. Its radio failed soon after launch and provided no data as it passed within 62,000 miles of the planet.

Another Atlas Agena B will start Mariner II on its space voyage. The Agena B second stage is to settle into a so-called parking orbit 115 miles above the earth at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour. When the Agena B is in a proper position for a Venus trajectory its engine will accelerate to a speed of 25,700 miles an hour and boost the spacecraft free.

Intricate System

An intricate system of earth and sun sensors, gyroscopes, gas jets and a midcourse motor are to keep Mariner II on course as it races across space towards its intended rendezvous with Venus 215 days after launching. The craft is not intended to hit the planet but to zip close to it before going into orbit about the sun.

Nelson Says Wiley 'Broke His Pledge'

Senator Charged for Voting Against Medical Care Bill

Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson, campaigning for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican Alexander Wiley, charged Tuesday that Wiley "broke his pledge" to Wisconsin's 400,000 senior citizens when he voted against the Kennedy administration medical care bill.

The governor, speaking at his Milwaukee campaign headquarters, said that Wiley, in a letter to R. R. Mack of Hartford, had described the bill as "very worth

House May Ask Black Muslim Cult Probe

Democrat Wants Study Because of Recent Rioting

BY CHARLES NICODEMUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the Black Muslim cult today appeared destined for certain passage.

The powerful House Rules Committee — whose endorsement is expected to virtually guarantee passage for the proposal — tentatively approved the resolution Tuesday. But committee leaders planned to consult with Rep. Francis Walter, (D-Penn.), before voting out the resolution, which calls for a probe by the Un-American Activities Committee, of which Walter is chairman.

Get House on Record

The resolution's sponsor, Rep. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.), told the Rules Committee yesterday that the resolution "would simply get the House on record" on the subject putting the full weight of lower chamber behind the problem.

Rivers called for the investigation after Black Muslim members and sympathizers fomented riots two weeks ago at the District of Columbia Camp for Youthful Offenders at Lorton, Va. Rivers stressed that "we need to look at this group because it is tailor-made for a Communist takeover."

Party Support

He read from an article by Illinois Communist Claude Lightfoot, which ran recently in the party's national magazine that said the party must consider lending "full support" to the idea of "Black Nationalism" in the United States.

Walter's Un-American Activities Committee already has conducted a preliminary investigation of the Black Muslim organization to get a rough idea of its policies and the extent of its influence.

Walter said the committee staff now is weighing the problem of whether the cult's actions bring it within the committee's statutory powers to investigate sources of subversive activity that legislation might be needed to combat.

Nelson Asks 6-Shell Limit For Goose Hunt

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson today asked the Wisconsin Conservation Commission to approve a six-shell limit for hunters in private as well as public blinds in the Horicon Marsh goose hunting season.

The governor, in a letter to the commission, noted that the Conservation Commission is on record for a six-shell limit in public blinds.

As adopted by the Congress, Nelson said, this discriminates between those using the public blinds directly behind the public facilities.

He added: "As a practical matter it seems clear that if the experimental limit is worthwhile in the public blinds it would be doubly worthwhile when applied to the entire 2 p.m. closing zone of the managed goose hunt area, including the private as well as the public blinds."

Letter From Greta

In its annual Back-To-School edition, the Post-Crescent carried a story headlined: Here's Happy News for Parents; School Resumes in About 23 Days. The article brought forth the following comment from a reader.

The letter tickled the editor's fancy. We suspect that Greta was trying to put us on the spot with an important segment of our readers. We even suspect the idea for the letter may have been put in her head by someone more adult. But it's the kind of a letter that deserves an answer and besides it gives us a chance to pilfer an idea from a letter by a girl named Virginia which earned another editor undying fame.

Dear Greta: It's been a long time since we were in 3rd grade. We really don't know how we would feel if you had written this to us way back then.

One of the worst things about living is growing up. Being eight years old is wonderful. You really don't want to be anything else at that age. When you get to be a teen-ager you'll want to be 20. When you get to be 20 you'll want to be 30. The happiest thing is not wanting to be anything but what you are.

When you get to be 40 and 50 this is all changed. Then you wish you were in your 20's or in your teens or even eight years old. By then you have learned many things. And sometimes it seems like the more you learn everything isn't as beautiful as it was before.

You learn that there are people in the world who steal and cheat. You learn that many people in the world do not have enough to eat and that little children die because they haven't anyone to take care of them. You learn that some men want power so badly that they don't care how many other people die. You learn that there are people who do not believe in God.

All this can make you sad. And even older people sometimes get to thinking that they don't want to learn any more.

Maybe the reason you don't like school is that you think if you study hard and get good marks in 3rd grade then you'll be promoted to 4th grade and then 5th and pretty soon you'll be in high school and then college and all the time you'll just have to work a lot harder. And maybe your parents keep telling you that if you don't get good grades you won't be able to go to college. And right now you don't care.

But because editors are older than you I hope you'll believe this one thing. Regardless of all the bad things in the world today there are a lot of good things too. Working hard is really fun when you get used to it. And playing becomes more fun when you work hard. And when a family works hard together and plays together that is one of the nice things. And there's a lot of beauty in the world and when you study and learn more about it it is more beautiful. Like nature, and music, and reading and painting.

When you say you don't like school you really mean that you love the nicer things in life more. And if you keep on loving life you will see all the good things as well as the bad. And pretty soon you will come to love school too. That's what makes life so hard to understand.

And don't forget that if you do study hard and learn someday you might even be a teacher or married and have children and then you can tell them to work very hard in school.

Mr. Rothwell's Men

The state department of public instruction is prepared for its school supervision and financing responsibilities during the new school term soon to begin with a nearly complete roster of new men in key division offices.

State Superintendent Angus Rothwell the other day announced the retirement of Russell F. Lewis, the deputy head of his office, with a mutual expression of regret. Mr. Lewis observed that if he were five years younger he would have been happy to remain at his key post. We find ourselves sorry that he isn't younger, for he is one of the most distinguished of the men of Wisconsin who have devoted their professional lives to a supervision of the public elementary and secondary schools.

But there is some reassurance in the quality of the successor Mr. Rothwell has named to the No. 2 office in his department. Mr. William Kahl has demonstrated his capacity during a decade of work in one of the most sensitive of the bureaus of the department which was responsible for the administration of the state aid program.

It is noteworthy also that Mr. Rothwell, who has held office for more than a year, moved with caution and circumspection in rearranging his official family after he was elected to the state superintendency. This is a quality that is more important in his office than in almost any other school office in Wisconsin.

Is Inspection Possible?

The recent suggestion by President Kennedy that the United States might scale down its demands for inspection controls in case of a nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union is being interpreted by some as merely a psychological maneuver to show up the Russians once more. Despite its dangers, particularly in the very remote possibility of an agreement which could hold down our defense tests in particular, the proposal isn't worth very much.

The major difference on the surface between the United States and Russia during the four year hassle in Geneva has centered around detection stations within each country. The Russians continue to insist upon manning such stations in Russia by Russians, obviously to cloak future testing. Some experts now insist that scientific devices now make it immaterial who mans the stations as detection is pretty sure at great distances in any case.

But this brings the matter down to something which has been avoided in the discussions—in the event of a breaking of a treaty, what action is to be taken and by whom?

The truth is that the Soviet Union breaks treaties and agreements whenever it determines it is to the interest of the Soviet Union to do so. World opinion has not mattered a whit to the Russians. Why then should the United States, in its dealings at Geneva, be so concerned about presenting an image of good intentions? Is it worth the risk that the Russians might accept our latest proposals?

The President and his advisors think it is and undoubtedly their opinion is based upon two factors: first, that neither nation really needs to test any more since we have reached a pinnacle of destructive ability; and second, that the Soviet Union doesn't want a test ban treaty in any case. The first determination must be a scientific one. The second has been increasingly apparent for about a year.

Certainly, as the Republican opposition has pointed out, we do not dare to have a test ban agreement which the Russians can break without detection. All the concern about influencing the neutral nations is secondary to this danger. But in reality a test ban treaty with the Russians is a hopeless business from any evidence that has so far been presented. It would be broken at will by the Russians unless serious enough consequences could be set up and, in the present state of affairs, such consequences could only be nuclear attack by a more powerful nation or combination of nations. Even NATO is not yet ready to threaten nuclear attack in case of a test ban treaty evasion. The Berlin wall stands in mute evidence of the indecision among the Western powers over what to do when the Soviet Union breaks agreements.

We expect that U. S. delegate Arthur Dean, a hard-headed man who has had many years of "negotiating" with the Russians, will try to make the suggestion of less inspection controls mainly to impress the neutral nations with our sincerity. The proposal will be turned down by the Soviet Union as it already has been rejected by its controlled press. The neutral nations will be no more impressed than they were the last time around and we will be no closer to a test ban treaty which would be patently useless anyway.

However, the Kennedy Administration will have to bear the political consequences of an apparent effort to "go soft" with the Russians however unlikely any damage to the U. S. And here there is strong justification for criticism. We would much rather that our government would concern itself with the "image" it presents to the Soviet Union than to the uncertain neutral nations who are still much more influenced by power than by good intentions.

Asks for Other Suggestions If Curfew Isn't Vandal Remedy

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In answer to "Almost Twenty" who does not feel a curfew is desirable, I would like to know what she and other teen-agers would suggest to help curb vandalism. Many times teen-agers have a better solution to the problems that involve them than adults have. If we could somehow share our ideas we may prevent the recurrence of past incidents.

I for one parent do not believe that the damages that teen-agers create should be entirely dismissed with the paying in dollars by the parents. I think that this becomes a case that the one with the most money is able to get away with the most damage and is entirely unfair to all. Why shouldn't the teen-ager be made to work out in hours of service to the community for damages he or she did. Some of it naturally would have to be in dollars but in addition he or she should be sentenced to giving of so many hours as would seem in keeping with the damage. This way it seems the individual would develop a better sense of responsibility for what they have done. Perhaps the teen-agers have a better idea on this. I think the parents would welcome hearing from them. Certainly this is their community as well as that of their parents and they should have some pride in the reputation that it has too. How about it?

Waupun is full of adults, not teen-agers, but why not stop the teen-agers before they become adults. I want to be proud of the community I live in and not ashamed of it. I am sure there must be others that feel that way too. It does not make one feel good to read of the destruction that some teen-agers are doing and many of them that have been caught have come from good homes. Sometimes it is a matter of drinking that has caused them to forget their self-respect. Maybe we allow drinking at too early an age.

True there are many adults that are not what we would like them to be but the teen-agers are our future adults so let us make them the best possible.

Compliment For Editorial

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We wish to compliment you for the editorial on Clarence Hathaway, which appeared in the Aug. 8 issue. The importance of parents in the life of a child needs to be stressed in these times; one finds so much lack of responsibility on the part of parents.

This is something we too try to emphasize in our work with organizations throughout the Green Bay Diocese.

We also want to express our appreciation for the fine coverage you have always given to Council news.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I notice in your editorial plaudits to the late President Conrad Elvehjem that you also refer to former President Edwin B. Fred of the same illustrious University as "late."

Please let me correct you. Former President Fred, under whom I spent four superb years at the "U", is still very much alive and active. Latest reports on the also famous biochemist are that he is still pursuing research as an avocation and first love in his original home of Virginia and occasionally in Wisconsin.

Twin Cities Answer War Call

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 14, 1962.

Menasha has been a perfect blaze of war meetings for nearly a week. Up to Tuesday evening, she had nearly her whole quota of volunteers! This, moreover, she has done on the heels of a very large surplus furnished by her under former calls.

Neenah is fully up to Menasha in the good work. Without holding many meetings, she seems to have rallied spontaneously, as one man, to the succor of her beleaguered country and the reinforcement of her own brave sons in the field.

Let Appleton profit by these eloquent examples.

Appleton's American Legion Post took first place in the convention at Milwaukee. It received a 100 per cent rating from the judges. Members of the post on the float were Clifford Radder, Edward Horn, Joseph Fisher and A. A. Ahrens.

Mrs. Harold Miller, Appleton, was elected first vice president of the state department of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Kaukauna Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps came home from Milwaukee in triumph after winning first place in the competition at the state Legion convention. Two of the members also won individual prizes. Earl Treptow the state championship in bugling and Ralph Schubring second place for his drum solo.

Dr. T. J. Seiler, Neenah, was elected lieutenant governor of the central district of Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis Clubs at the convention in Green Bay.

Knowles Takes Stump In Behalf of Kuehn

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The announcement that Lt. Gov. Warren P. Knowles, loser of a hard convention fight for endorsement of his party to Philip Kuehn in June, is stumping for the man who beat him will surprise only those who are disappointed by the development.

There had been some reason to believe that Kuehn's rival in the September primary for the gubernatorial nomination, Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie, was capitalizing on the disappointment of the Knowles backers.

The intensity of the pre-convention competition between the two men, moreover, had led to some public speculation, quite legitimately, that they might find it hard to get together again.

Yet among those who have an understanding of party politics and the habits of partisans there should not have been any doubt about the final arrangements. Knowles is a party man. He has shown it on a hundred occasions during his long years in leadership positions in Republican affairs. Although his disappointment at Milwaukee undoubtedly was deep, there could be no other way for a man who believed in his own record and who implicitly agreed to back the delegates' choice when he offered his own name for their backing.

OTHER REASONS

Knowles is quite simply honoring the rules by which he has lived and which he would expect his rivals to honor had the tables been turned in the Republican gubernatorial competition this year.

But there are quite possibly other considerations. The lieutenant governor indicated after his narrow margin of defeat at Milwaukee that he regards his own political career as finished, although he fell short of making an explicit and unqualified intention to retire from political life. He intended to go home to practice law and fish trout, as he put it.

But he is a comparatively young man. One of the unchanging rules of politics is that men who have succeeded in political life and find satisfactions in it typically find it very difficult to retire completely.

There will be other Republican ticket composition problems in Wisconsin. A Republican governor or a Republican president will have countless opportunities to reward a faithful party adherent. Already throughout the state the name of Knowles is mentioned more often in connection with the party.

I should proceed to destination or yes, I should return to the office?"

Whereupon the salesmanager sent this laconic telegram: "No."

tion with the 1964 nomination for U. S. senator than any other ranking member of his party. Since the lieutenant governor often has confessed that a life-long ambition was to be a senator, such mentions cannot be wholly displeasing.

FORTUNE'S WHEEL

All other things being equal, Knowles would have been the overwhelming choice of his party for the governorship this year.

But all other factors were not equal, and he was partly responsible for the circumstance. Had he consented to run for his party's nomination in 1960, he would have been the undisputed choice of the convention this year. Indeed, there are many persons, key Democrats included, who feel he might very well have won two years ago against Gov. Nelson, but that is a hindsight view with the benefit of the election returns on the record.

The Knowles experience, in its most important meaning, may be to illustrate the risky thing that a political career in normal situations must be. The ideal ticket for the Republicans in this generally hopeful year might have been Knowles and Kuehn. Through a stroke of luck for Kuehn, based primarily on decisions by Knowles that he could not have fully assessed at the time, Kuehn is in a position to win the highest and most desirable office in state politics while Knowles must prepare to retire to the sidelines — temporarily, at least.

And That's Just Where the Old Catch Comes In

From The New York Times

The gloomy story of price-fixing in the sale of heavy electrical equipment to Government agencies may have an ironic footnote.

The Internal Revenue Service reports that it has not yet decided whether to classify as tax-deductible the $7,470,000 General Electric has agreed to pay in settlement of Federal damage claims. If it does, the Treasury might wind up a net loser. This is because the Tennessee Valley Authority is the direct beneficiary of five-sixths of the settlement, with only $1,000,000 going to the Treasury. The tax loss could come to nearly four times that much.

"Yale," replied the young man.

"Good, good!" exclaimed the contractor, being a staunch advocate of university education. "What's your name?"

"Yackson."

Winnebago County Agent Wins Booth Award for 4th Time

MILWAUKEE (AP)—This was the day for the ladies to take over the Wisconsin State Fair.

In addition to special Women's Day programs, including a rose show and the presentation of home economics awards, it also marked the beginning of open class livestock judging.

The Winnebago county agent, Vernon Peroutky, topped 17 other competitors in winning the Milwaukee Journal's county booth award for the fourth time. His booth displayed methods of protecting milk from radioactive fallout. Peroutky is from Oshkosh.

Nelson Visits

Gov. Gaylord Nelson visited the Fair Tuesday, Recognition Day with salutes for oldtimers and long-time fairgoers. There were honors for families that have held the same farms for 100 years and communities holding centennials or celebrating 125 years in existence.

Attendance continued to lag as the Fair passed the halfway mark. The turnout Tuesday up to 10 p.m. was 60,221 and raised the total for the first five days to 324,630, compared with 418,695 at the same point last year.

A ferris wheel stuck Tuesday evening with 14 persons aboard, 11 of them children. Some waited more than an hour before they could be brought down by West a.m. Sunday.

New Fair Site

The State Exposition Board, which supervises the fair, voted Tuesday to spend up to $25,000 for preliminary plans and a study to secure state help in financing of a new fair site. The study was the fair's premium fund, which requested by the State Building pays out about $130,000 a year.

Where Is Administration Going?

President's Talk Fails to Bring Confidence Byrnes Says

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's Monday night broadcast on tax matters "failed to restore the people's confidence that the administration knows where it is going and why," Rep. John W. Byrnes, R., Green Bay, charged today.

Other than putting to rest the speculation and uncertainty regarding a temporary or "quickie" real property taxes, and taxation tax cut, the chief executive said nothing either new or refreshing in the opinion of the Wisconsin congressman.

"We have been told again by the President that tax reduction not after the election," he declared.

"For over a year, the administration has been talking of a tax reform bill. We are now told that such a bill will not be submitted to Congress until 1963."

Emphasizing that Kennedy gave no new details regarding the bill, Byrnes, who is the chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, concluded that the President's message "falls far short of giving assurance that the administration's attitude of ever-increased government spending has been abandoned."

Henson and other witnesses described how the Hanna interests used several subsidiary corporations to carry out the nickel stockpile contracts.

These contracts were signed Jan. 16, 1953, shortly before Humphrey resigned as a Hanna official to join the Eisenhower Cabinet.

Cattle Fly Stages

Worse Infestation

MADISON (AP)—The face fly, which tormented cattle so much that sometimes they do not eat, is staging its worst infestation on record in Wisconsin.

The warning was issued Tuesday by E. H. Fisher, a University of Wisconsin entomologist, who said that farmers should act fast on control steps. He said the infestation would continue through September.

The fly, about the size of a housefly, clings to the head of an animal and is not easily disturbed. It also is suspected of spreading pinkeye among cattle. Fisher said that county agriculture agents have been supplied with treatment information, including types of sprays and frequency of use.

Mail Truck Robbery May Total $2 Million blocked off a lane several miles back with detour signs at the nearest exit. This forestalled some motorists from driving onto the holdup scene.

FBI Has Suspects
FBI agents said the method used was known to be favored by two men high on the FBI "most-wanted" list. They said the technique was similar to that used in previous holdups by Robby Wilcoxon of Duke, Okla., and Albert Nussbaum of Buffalo, N.Y. They robbed two New York banks.

Last May, an Abington policeman was shot by a motorist who resembled Nussbaum. The man was never found.

There were reports that a red and white car with a girl at the wheel was seen stopped beside the mail truck on Route 128.

Patrick Schena, one of the two guards on the truck, gave this account.

"They first stopped us on Route 3 near the bypass. A car went by at 80 miles an hour. We were doing about 45. We saw the car stop in front of us and a man in a police uniform got out and waved his arms over his head to stop us. I stopped the truck.

The next thing I knew there was a man coming on either side of the truck, pointing what looked like machine guns at us.

"They ordered us to throw down our guns and we did. They told us to open the cage which led to the back. We opened it. They ordered us to get in the back of the truck.

"The man dressed as a policeman and another man joined the two with the guns and they tied us up and made us lie down on the floor.

Opened Truck Door

"They took our keys and opened the back door and threw some of the money bags to another person, who put them into a car.

"The car drove off and a man dressed as a policeman started driving the mail truck off with us in it. I don't know how far we went, but when we stopped again one of the men got out and took some more money bags and put them in another car.

Then they drove some more and made a third stop and repeated the same procedure with another man leaving the truck.

"We then drove a long time before they stopped at the Route 128 and 28 intersection. Then they all got out of the truck and took the remaining money bags into a fourth car and drove off.

"I don't know how much money they got but we knew we had over a million dollars. We waited until we heard the car drive away. Then we untied each other."

The other guard was William F. Barrett.

Used 4 Cars

Police said the gunmen, who apparently used four cars to set up the crime, also made use of detour signs to halt traffic on the lonely Route 3 bypass. Two of the cars were found abandoned in Plymouth near the Plymouth County House of Correction.

Schena, 36, of Everett, and Barrett, of Mansfield, were forced from the cab, tied up and pushed into the rear of the truck. Two men drove the truck. Two others trailed behind in cars.

Truck Abandoned

The truck made several stops. Its bound occupants said some of the bags were dropped off at each stop.

The truck was driven to Randolph — a distance of about 25 miles — where Schena and Barrett were freed. The truck was abandoned near the junction of Route 128.

Youths Hear Concert at Fish Creek

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Press-Gazette Staff Writer
FISH CREEK — There was a great deal of contemporary music played here Tuesday afternoon. Come to think of it, what's more contemporary than a bunch of kids — and this was a concert for youngsters.

Dr. Thor Johnson presented the Peninsula Music Festival's traditional young people's concert. As is customary, the program was highlighted by the festival debuts of two teen-age winners of the University of Wisconsin's Summer Music Clinic competition.
This year's winners were both from Madison. Appearing as soloist in the first movement of Schumann's A Minor Piano Con-certe was 18-year-old Jane Christenson, while cellist Bruce Rasmussen, 17, played Max Bruch's setting of the "Kol Nidrei."

Orchestra's Program
As is standard procedure for this concert Dr. Johnson's program (for which he acted as commentator) was designed to demonstrate the various orchestral choirs. Each work presented a different portion of the ensemble in a dominating role.
The "Carmen" preludes highlighted the woodwinds and the brasses. The percussion battery had its moment in Heurwell Tircuit's Japanese inspired "Odoru Katachi," while the strings were emphasized in the Closing Concert Polka by H. C. Lumbye.

The Tircuit, Berghmans and Lumbye works are thoroughly modern, full of intricate rhythms, sharp dissonances and plenty of cheerful verve. Not all of it is easy listening for older ears but of Martinez, shot three times, beside a highway seven miles from the tavern.

Police searched for the missing girl over a wide area for a week without finding a trace of her.

Boehm said it was just before nightfall when he spotted the young woman's body lying less than a foot off the little used road just across the Rock River from Byron about 16 miles south of Rockford.

"I thought it might be the Bergman girl when I saw it was a body," Boehm told Ogle County Sheriff Ed Lang.

When Martinez, a furniture finisher in Rockford, was found dead, investigators theorized that Miss Bergman must have been present at the time he was shot. They said they based this conclusion on the short time between the pair's leaving the Rockford tavern and the finding of Martinez's body.

The Bergman girl had worked for a Rockford electronics firm until June, when she left her job

1,181 Appleton School Children To Ride Buses

Board of Education Approves Contracts For Transportation

A total of 1,181 children in the Appleton public schools will receive bus transportation to school this year at a cost of $81,976.

Children being transported will include 444 in attached areas and 737 in the city area.

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved contracts with the Van Camp and Van Handel Bus Lines at a daily rate of $16 per bus for the transportation of school children in the Grand Chute attached areas. Van Camp will use four and one-half buses at a daily cost of $81, and Van Handel will provide two buses for $36 per day.

May Buy Buses

"Transportation has become big business," Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the board. "I would like to stay out of the bus business buying, maintaining and operating our own buses as long as we can. But you reach a point in terms of numbers to be transported where we have to evaluate the costs to determine whether we should contract for transportation or buy buses."

Because of overcrowding in some schools, 160 junior high pupils and 424 elementary pupils will be transported from their home school districts this fall.

The new Johnston School, to be completed by the fall of 1963, will provide space for 215 elementary pupils now required to attend the Columbus, Edison and Jefferson Schools. A new northside junior high, planned for completion by the fall of 1964, will allow 150 pupils now attending Madison Junior High School to return to their home district.

Free Rides

State law requires free transportation for all pupils living in the rural areas more than two miles from school.

Where possible, both city and rural bus services are planned so that pupils who want bus rides but are not eligible for school-paid transportation may ride at their own expense.

Bus transportation will cost $34,995 for the fall of 1962 and $75,736 for the spring and fall of 1963. In 1963 the school system will receive $22,901 in state reimbursement, so that actual cost to Appleton will be $52,835.

In addition, board and room in lieu of transportation is provided for eight pupils.

The Appleton system also will pay for transportation of 16 high school pupils in attached districts to Kimberly, Kaukauna and Hortonville high schools. According to state law, high school pupils in attached areas may complete high school where they had started if they wish.

Five Teaching Posts Vacant

Board Hires Clerk For Appleton High Guidance Staff

Five vacancies remain in the Appleton public schools' teaching staff for this fall.

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved employing a clerical worker on a temporary basis for the high school guidance department because an opening for a girls' guidance counselor has not been filled. This will enable the rest of the guidance staff to handle the additional work, Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said.

Other vacancies are for a speech correctionist, an elementary vocal music teacher, an elementary French teacher and an elementary teacher.

The board approved the appointment of Miss Ruth Parkinson as head librarian at the Senior High School, to replace Miss Ethelwyn Baerwaldt, who died this summer.

Mrs. Jack Burroughs was appointed head of the high school English department on a temporary one-year basis. Kurtz said he would try to locate someone with a master's degree to fill the position.

New contracts for the 1962-1963 school year were approved for Miss Mary Jane Topp, and English teacher at the high school; Mrs. Robert Sprowl, a home economics teacher at James Madison Junior High School; Miss Diane Grall, an elementary French teacher; Mrs. Carol H. Nelson, a primary three teacher at Jefferson School; Mrs. Judith W. Cuddy, a primary three teacher at Richmond School; and Mrs. Helen Hubin, a half-time kindergarten teacher at Jackson School.

New contracts in the Appleton system also were approved for 17 teachers from the attached districts.

Resignations were received from Mrs. Carol Mueller, a primary three teacher at Richmond School; Mrs. Kathleen Stewart, a primary three teacher at Stanley School; and Miss Jean Burroughs, a vocal music teacher.

Winnipeg Board May Move Welfare Office

OSHKOSH — The Winnipeg County Board this morning approved a proposal by the welfare committee to study the possibility of moving the Welfare Department out of the courthouse.

Board Chairman Joseph Drexler was to decide this afternoon whether to have the public building committee make the study or whether to appoint a special committee.

Travel Allowance Hike Okayed by School Board

Increases in automobile allowance to $50 per month for three departments for school teachers and administrators with system-wide responsibility were approved Monday by the Appleton Board of Education.

The allowance was increased from $40 to $60 per month for three administrators with system-wide responsibility, and from $40 to $50 per month for three department heads with system-wide responsibility.

Travel allowance for resource personnel will be based on the following formula: $45 monthly allowance for 30 or more trips per week, $35 monthly allowance for 15 to 29 trips per week, and $25 monthly allowance for less than 15 trips per week.

Appleton Native To Make Final Vows In Ceremony Thursday

Vince Suffers Mishap but Enjoys Drill

Charging Sled Hits Fallen Coach's Foot

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
DALLAS — Vince Lombardi suffered pain on the practice field Tuesday. But after the workout, he said, "that's the best drill we've had yet."

The Packers coach's pain was strictly personal, and it could have been serious.

Vince was riding on the 7-man charging sled during the team's usual bout with the giant "back breaker."

When Lombardi figured the drill was finished, he stepped off the sled and turned away. At the same time the last group of seven crashed into the sled, and the coach was flipped to the ground. The group automatically snapped back and forward for a second charge when Ray Nitschke let out a scream as he saw Lombardi, stopping the sled just as it hit Lombardi's foot.

Back to Work

Vince leaped to his feet, brushed himself off and went back to work. He came out with a bruised foot and a skinned knee, but he very easily could have suffered a broken leg.

Lombardi rides herd on the sled himself, and insists on each group making its charge in unison.

The spirited and successful practice, witnessed by over 700 people on the SMU football field, was topped off with relay sprints. The individual races between two squads produced several dead heats and one oddity: the two veteran quarterbacks, Bart Starr and John Roach, fumbled the handoff of the piskin "baton."

The visitors included, besides members of the Dallas Texan

Brian London Scores KO in Driving Rain

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Brian London of Britain knocked out American Howard King of Reno in the sixth round of an open-air heavyweight bout Tuesday night that became farcical in pouring rain.

Both men went into the slippery, sliding ring in their bare feet in a bid to keep the fight alive.

All the time torrential rain slapped down. Even before the bout started the canvas was soaked and like a skating rink.

Referee Wally Thom, former British welterweight champion, wanted to stop the fight at the end of the first round. London protested, clutching the referee with both hands.

Would Go On

After a long argument it was announced that the fight would go on.

London, former British heavyweight champion, looked much more at home than his opponent. The Briton seemed happy in the rain.

In the first round King missed with a right hand and fell flat. He got up with sawdust all over his back. He slipped down again before the round was over.

The fight ended at 2:17 of the sixth when King was counted out after slipping under the ropes from a light left jab. He failed to get back into a fighting position before the count of 10.

Ties 57-Game Mark

Cubs' Ken Hubbs Eyes New Fielding Record

BY JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Rookie Ken Hubbs isn't old enough to vote yet, but when he goes after a National League fielding record for second basemen today he expects to be as relaxed as a retired oldtimer.

"I was nervous and tense," said the 20-year-old Hubbs after matching the record of 57 games without an error Tuesday as the Chicago Cubs dropped a 9-2 decision to the San Francisco Giants.

"But that's all behind me now. I'll be all right in tomorrow's game. I'm sure of it."

Tuesday, Hubbs tied the record set by Red Schoendienst of St. Louis and another errorless game today will put him in front of the National League second basemen.

Legion of Admirers

Hubbs accepted six chances to give him 303 in the span while Red Schoendienst had 308 in establishing the mark in 1950. Should he sell insurance and Ken has four brothers. The California kid who hails from the Los Angeles area was the major league record of 73 games without a miscue by Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox in 1946.

Hubbs, who spent one winter at Brigham Young University and hopes to continue his education, "I'm glad of my choice," he says during the offseason in an effort to

Green Bay Packer quarterback John Roach (10) handles the ball in a workout in Dallas, Tex., where the Packers are preparing for Saturday night's exhibition game with the St. Louis Cardinals in Jacksonville, Fla. Other players that can be identified in the drill are Jim Taylor (31) Jim Ringo (51), Jerry Kramer (64), Ron Kostelnik (77) and Norm Masters (78). (AP Wirephoto)

Giants Whip Cubs, 9-2, Cut Dodger Margin to 1½ Games

Bucs' McBean Triumphs, 2-1, Over Podres

BY JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hand over that shoe horn, Joe Cronin.

The race over here in the National League is developing into a good thing to avoid if you have sticky heart valves.

You may recall that a few weeks back American League President Cronin was calling his scrambled flag battle a "shoe horn race."

Not so long after that, the Los Angeles Dodgers were making motions toward a National League runaway. The San Francisco Giants put a stop to that with a weekend sweep.

And Tuesday night, Jack Sanford won his 10th straight for the Giants and Willie Mays hit his 36th home run. They beat the Cubs, 9-2.

As for the Dodgers, they lost to Pittsburgh 2-1. Maury Wills was caught stealing and Tommy Davis struck out, hit into a force play and two double plays.

1½ Games Behind

As a result, the Giants are within 1½ games of the Dodgers, and the shoe is getting tighter. The flag hopes of the Cincinnati Reds, who are 6½ back in third, suffered a setback when they were beaten 5-4 by the Milwaukee Braves.

The St. Louis Cardinals, whose "disgusted" boss August Busch threatened to trade almost every one, including the peanut vendors, dropped a 4-3 battle to Houston in 10 innings, when the winning run scored on an error.

The Philadelphia Phils and the New York Mets struggled for 15 innings before the Phils won 3-1. Sanford ran his record to 16-6, as he tamed the Cubs on eight hits. Ernie Banks drove in both Cub runs, one with his 30th homer.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Giants and ninth in their last 10. Mays' homer leads the majors' was good for three runs. Chuck Hiller also had a homer and Harvey Kuenn con-

Papermakers, Klubbers Open FRVL Playoff Series Sunday

HARRISON — Little Chute-Kimberly and Kaukauna will open their best-of-3 playoff series for the Fox River Valley League championship at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Little Chute ball park, league officials decided in a meeting here Tuesday night.

Kaukauna, which is without a home field because its diamond is being torn up to make way for new athletic grounds, will be host for the second game. It will be played at 2 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 26 at the Freedom field.

A third game, if necessary, will be played Aug. 30 under the lights at Kimberly.

L.C.K.'s Papermakers won the first-round title, while Kau-kauna's Klubbers captured second-half honors.

Kaukauna representatives said that if there is any problem concerning arrangements for use of the Freedom field other plans would be made later this week. Rosters of both playoff teams were read and approved by team representatives.

After some discussion, the league voted to award certificates to players who appear in the annual all-star game. President Gene Kline said a 3-man committee would be appointed to make arrangements to have awards available for next season.

It was voted to forego the league banquet this season.

Clintonville '9' Wins 14-Inning Playoff Tilt, 2-1

Meets Oshkosh Friday; Marshhek Gives Only 2 Hits

STURGEON BAY — Jack Korb singled to left center field to drive in the winning tally in the top half of the 14th inning as Clintonville defeated Sturgeon Bay, 2-1, in a Fox Valley American Legion League playoff game Tuesday night.

The game was a completion of a suspended contest started Sunday afternoon. Sunday, the teams played into the 10th inning before the rains came with the score tied, 1-1.

Kurt Marshhek gave up only two hits in the 14 frames to win the mound decision.

Clintonville will play at Oshkosh Friday night for the league championship. Oshkosh won the Southern Division crown, Sturgeon Bay captured the Northern Division title and Clintonville was the Central Division champion.

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Fullback Bill Tunnichiff, the Chicago Bears' No. 5 draft choice, has decided to leave the Bears and take a teaching job in Michigan, owner-coach George Halas said Tuesday.

Tunnichiff, 6-foot-1, 230 pounds, is a former University of Michigan player.

His departure leaves the Bears with fullbacks Rick Casares, Bill Brown, and Charlie Byrns, who and finished out with a par-

Aaron Boys Homer As Braves Win, 5-4

Shaw Faces Reds' Purkey Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves have found a way to beat Cincinnati, and putting the formula into action have broken a Red winning streak at nine games for the second time this season.

The secret of success? Home runs by the Aaron brothers mixed with some stout relief pitching by Claude Raymond.

The results were a 5-4 victory over the Reds Tuesday night.

The teams pushed over three runs each in the second inning and played without a score until Tommy Aaron drove his fifth homer of the season after the screen in left in the sixth.

Hank Aaron, who was three for four at the plate, crashed his 31st homer an inning later, driving the ball over the center field wall.

Hank's homer became the decisive clout of the game after Vada Pinson and Leo Cardenas poked a pair of doubles to send over one run in the ninth. The run brought Claude Raymond to the mound and he fanned Red catcher Johnny Edwards to end the game.

Saves Victory

Raymond's labor saved the victory for Milwaukee starter Tony Cloninger, winner of four of six decisions. He gave up seven hits, two of them homers, fanned two and walked two.

Red starter Johnny Klippstein.

Colt Right Safety Spot Apparently Going to Welch

The Baltimore Colts can remove the "vacancy" sign at right safety, cutting their defensive backfield problem by 5 per cent.

Jimmy Welch, starting his third season with the National Football League club, apparently has moved ahead in the battle for a starting job at right safety—ahead of Bob Harrison, who held the post as a rookie last season.

Welch was a reserve on offense in 1960. He was switched to defense last year and was second string to Harrison.

Veterans Andy Nelson, at left safety, and Bobby Boyd, at left corner back, already have nailed down two of the other defensive backfield posts.

The starting job at right corner is still up for grabs, with veterans Lenny Lyles and Pat Heman and rookie Wendell Harris in the running.

Yanks Hike Lead To Six Games as Angels Drop Pair

Clinton's 2-Out Homer in Ninth Beats Dean Chance, 2-1

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Throw away that shoe horn, Joe Cronin.

That pennant race in your American League may be turning into a runaway.

Cronin, the AL president who just a few weeks back was beaming about the tight scramble that would require a shoe horn to separate the teams, must be shaking his head now with the closest pursuers of the league-leading New York Yankees riding a treadmill to nowhere.

A week ago the second-place Los Angeles Angels began to move and rolled within 4½ games of the world champions. Today, after a 2-1 and 9-5 doubleheader loss to Boston Tuesday night, the Angels are right back where they started with another week of play gone.

While the Angels were dropping a pair, the Yankees took care of third-place Minnesota, beating the Twins 5-2 as Whitey Ford posted his 10th victory in the last 11 decisions.

As a result, the Yankees are six games in front of Los Angeles, 6½ ahead of Minnesota.

In other AL action, Al Kaline put on a one-man show and led Detroit to a 13-10, 5-4 two-night doubleheader victory over Baltimore. Frank Baumann's eight-hitter gave the Chicago White Sox a 9-0 triumph over Cleveland and Kansas City edged Washington 6-5 on a squeeze hunt by Billy Conso.

Two-out Homer
Lu Clinton's two-out homer in the ninth inning gave the single by Ed Bressoud following the Red Sox a come-from-behind victory in the opener, tagged Angels starter Dean Chance (10-7) with the loss and snapped his scoreless innings streak at 22-23. The victory went to reliever Dick Radatz (6-4).

The Red Sox struck for nine runs in the first two innings of the nightcap, got five innings of no-hit ball from Chet Nichols, then held on as the Angels rallied but fell short. Nichols (1-1) needed Mike Fierie's relief to help to win it. Eli Gehr (4-8) was the loser.

Ford (13-5), posting his first complete game in 31 starts since June 29, allowed nine hits and allowed both Twins' runs on homers by Vic Power and Bob Allison. The Yankees moved ahead to stay in the fifth, getting a boost from Rich Rollins' error on Cleve Boyer's grounder that set up a three-run homer by Tom Tresh. Two more runs came across in the seventh on a wall and singles by Tresh, Bobby Richardson and Roger Maris as Ford became only the second left-hander to beat Minnesota. Left Pleis (12-2) suffered the setback.

Kalene drove in six runs in the opener for the Tigers with a single, triple and three-run homer off Oriole relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm that snapped an 8-8 tie in the seventh inning that gave the victory the Sam Jones (2-3) and made Billy Hoelt (4-6) the loser. Norm Cash's 32nd homer, his first hit in 21 at-bats, gave the Tigers a 3-0 bulge in the nightcap before Kaline hit his 18th in the fifth inning for what turned out to be the decisive run. Phil Regan (7-8) won it with Hal Brown (5-4) the

Stagg Characterized as Greisch Hurls 'Sincere Missionary'

Grand Old Man Of Football Paid Tribute by Son

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., spoke from a hospital bed Tuesday and paid tribute to his father, Amos Alonzo Stagg, the grand old man of football who celebrates his 100th birthday in Stockton, Calif., Thursday.

"The fact that he has become great is not the result of luck," he said with emotion.

"For people to become great, it's the result of a whole life of right thinking.

"He is a sincere missionary. In other words he set his life aside to do good, and I think he does it in a very humble and natural way."

The younger Stagg, 63, coached a total of 37 years, 19 of them with Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pa.

He entered Ingalls Memorial Hospital in Harvey a week ago after he slipped while taking a shower. The injury is diagnosed as a pulled tendon in his left shoulder.

Joins Stock Firm
Stagg, now retired, joined a stock brokerage firm in Chicago a year ago. He lives in Home-wood, Ill., with his wife.

He was a quarterback with the University of Chicago Maroons until he graduated in 1923.

Stagg's brother, Paul, was quarterback for the Maroons from 1927 to 1931. Paul now is athletic director at the University of Pacific, a post his father once held. He became coach at Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore., in 1947.

That is the year the elder Stagg joined son, Amos Alonzo, at Susquehanna University. The Staggs developed Susquehanna into a top football threat with an undefeated, untied team in 1951.

The senior Stagg retired in 1933 from the University of Chicago's athletic staff at age 70.

He started with the University of Chicago in 1892 at its founding by John D. Rockefeller.

From the mid-20s through his final season in 1932, the Big Ten players outmanned Stagg's squads.

Son Stagg said his father has been a wise man.

"He looks for truth. He had good tools given him in education," he said.

"I think he's a good thinker and acted according to his thoughts.

"So many of us go through life letting ourselves be dominated by our prejudices and environment. He is a hard worker, and I took he was doing."

AFL 'Draft' Results in Six Changes

Oakland, Denver Uproot Five Players, Including Lucas

DALLAS (AP)—The American Football League expected to keep the telephone busy today winding up its equalization draft, which has resulted in six player changes.

Oakland and Denver, for whom the draft was designed, and three rounds of Tuesday's drafting to themselves. They uprooted five players.

The draft, being conducted from the league office here, was set up to give player assistance to the two lowest finishing clubs in last season's race.

All Eight Clubs
Before business halted for the night, the draft moved into the fourth round and all eight clubs could start participating in this order: Oakland, Denver, Dallas, Buffalo, New York, Boston, San Diego, Houston.

Each had the choice of freeing one of its own players or choosing an unfrozen player from another team.

Denver used three of its four turns. It picked quarterback Richie Lucas, Penn State star back in 1959-60, from Buffalo; John Denver, a 245-pound guard, from San Diego, and Isaac Lassiter, 270-pound tackle, from Dallas.

Oakland drafted defense tackles George Sharkey and Orville Trask from Houston. It chose to freeze a pair of its own players on the other two rounds.

Get Pennington
Dallas, which got in on the beginning of the fourth round, picked up Tom Pennington, a Georgia University kicking specialist, from Buffalo.

Clubs drafting in the first four rounds pay the owning club $4,000 for a first round choice, $3,000 for second, $2,000 for third and $1,000 for fourth. No fee is charged for fifth and sixth round selections.

All clubs must cut their squads to 43 players by Aug. 21 and by Aug. 28 they must cut to 38. They must then strip to the league limit by Sept. 4. Players who appeared in the All-Star game at Chicago will not count against the total in the first two outdawns.

Valley Soccer Team Defeated By Chicago, 9-1

The Fox Valley team had the lead briefly when John Van Pelt scored early in the game. By halftime the Chicagoans had a 3-1 advantage and then pulled away in the last half.

Packers Haven't Been Able To Simulate Cardinal Defense
DALLAS (AP) — Green Bay Packers Coach Vince Lombardi has a concern—his National Football League champions haven't been able to simulate the defense used by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Packers and Cards meet in an exhibition game in Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday.

As the Packers worked on plans for their third straight pre-season victory Tuesday, Lombardi said, "The Cardinals have a new defense, and when we try to simulate it in practice, we can't do it. Everybody wants to play defense their way."

The Cardinals, trying to rebuild under Walby Lemm, will throw an orthodox offense at the Packers.

Forester Missing
"There's no double wing or any of those things Pop Ivy used," Lombardi said, "but they still have John David Crow, and he's looking very good."

The Packers worked out in the morning again Tuesday, with only Bill Forester missing the drill. "I've had a virus for the last couple of days," the tough linebacker said, "and this sun sort of got me."

Back in the lineup was center Jim Ringo, out Monday with a back muscle spasm.

While the Packers were sweating out a Texas heat wave, there was pleasant information from Milwaukee.

Only 9,000 tickets remain to be sold to insure a sellout for the Packers' Shrine exhibition game with the Chicago Bears in Milwaukee County Stadium Aug. 25. The stadium seats 44,000 for football.

Giants Whip Cubs, Cut Dodger Lead

trubated three hits. Ken Hubbs, the 30-year-old second baseman of the Cubs, tied a NL record by completing 57 straight games without an error.

Johnny Podres was foiled in a bid for his 100th career victory for the Dodgers, as his mates got at least one hit in every inning except the ninth but couldn't locate the plate.

Podres Homers

The only Dodger run off Al McBreen (12-8) came on Podres' first major league homer. The Pirates got one run in the first inning on doubles by Bob Clemente and Donn Clendenon and the clincher in the third when Bill Virdon singled and Dick Groat doubled him home.

Maury Wills, who now has 60 thefts in 68 attempts, was thrown out trying to steal second in the fifth inning. He was the first Dodger caught stealing in 16 tries by the Pirates this season. Smokey Burgess made the throw that nipped Wills.

The Cardinals messed up a double play ball in the 10th when Julian Javier threw into the dirt to Bill White at first base and Roman Mejias scored from second, just beating White's throw to the plate. Bob Gibson (14-9) won all the way for the loss, and Don McMahon (3-3) got the win in relief.

Al Jackson went all 15 innings for the Mets, who ran their latest losing streak to five games. He limited the Phils to four singles through the first 14 innings, but in the 15th Tony Gonzales reached second on a two-base error, Bob Oldis blooped a single to right, Ruben Amaro was walked intentionally and Mel Roach hit a two-run single through the drawn-in infield.

squad, the team's owners. That would be Lamar Hunt, who virtually started the AFL himself. He asked about Ben Davidson's weight, noting that "we were interested in him before he went to the Giants."

Hank Jordan thinks the world of the Bays' offense and the all-pro defensive tackled sighted after practice. "Boy, have we got a pretty passing attack. For once in my life, I don't have to hold my breath when the ball's in the air."

Paul Hornung got a laugh when he opened his mail Monday morning.

"I got a letter from the public information officer at Fort Riley. He said somebody sent him that headline on Lombardi telling Hornung the picnic's over. The officer wrote that he had some pull and he could get my old job back again," Paul roared.

The coaches learned that Tom Bettis is going right well with the Steelers. The former Packer, traded recently, is playing outside linebacker.

The Cowboys ran off more plays than the Packers in the Bays' 31-7 victory Friday night. The Cowboys had 56, the Bays' 53. The big difference was in the yards gained per play. Green Bay averaging 6.5 against the Cowboys' 4.1.

The Cowboys averaged 3.7 yards on each of their 31 rushes; the Bays 3.3 on their 33 trips.

The Bays' rushing game will get a much sterner test when Taylor and Co. beef up against the Cardinals in Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday night.

The Packers' nine rookies are divided as evenly as possible on offense and defense. Five are on the offense team—Earl Gros, Oscar Donahue, Bob Jones, Ed Blaine and Gary Barnes. Those on defense are Paul Dudley, Richard Davis, Howard Williams and Ron Gasseri.

It cooled off to 96 Tuesday from 105 but 100-plus weather was predicted for today. Like Trainer Bud Jorgensen observed, "you get heat prostration outside and pneumonia in the room." But most everybody is gradually getting acclimated.

Dale Matthews Lost to UW '71

MADISON (AP)—Veteran Dale Matthews, who started every game at left tackle for the University of Wisconsin football team last year, will be lost for the coming season because of scholastic problems.

Athletic Director Ivy Williamson said Monday Matthews enrolled in summer school but was not able to boost his overall grade point average to 1.5 as required for a player in his senior year.

The 6-foot-3, 270-pound Matthews, from South Bend, Ind., won the first of his two varsity letters in 1969 as a guard.

first of three Cincinnati hurlers took the loss and is now 4 and 3.

The Braves started the scoring when Hank Aaron led off the second with a walk and took second as Lee Maye fouled out. Tommie Aaron walked and a double by Joe Torre sent Hank home. Frank Bolling was walked intentionally, filling the bases, then was forced by Cloninger. Tommie Aaron scoring on the play. A wild pitch allowed Torre to score.

Frank Robinson led off the Red second by walking and stealing second ahead of Gordie Coleman's 25th homer, a drive into the seats in right. After an out, Hank Foiles lined a drive against the screen in left and it was ruled a home run by Umpire Mel Steiner.

The clubs meet in the third of their four-game series on Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15, facing Bob Purkey, 17 and 4.

Santa Keeps Mobile, Thanks To His Own 'Santa Clauses'

NEENAH—Santa Claus will keep mobile this year. At first, it looked as if the old gent would need to walk his rounds of the Twin Cities this year, with announcement Monday that the 43-year-old Neenah fire pumper truck is suffering from old age. The old truck, says Fire Chief John Zick, needs major repairs and parts are not available.

Santa Claus, however, found that there are at least two other "Santa Clauses"—Milton Liess and John J. Keller.

Tuesday, Liess gave the city a 1951 semitrailer and tractor unit, which was surplus and was to have been sold. Liess says he had used the truck in his business, M. Liess Co., which recently was merged with J. Stone & Son Co. Liess heard of the need through a News-Record news story.

Keller was in process of getting a suitable truck when he heard about Liess' gift. Keller is trying to find a set of dolly jacks for the flatbed semitrailer. Keller is a transportation and warehousing consultant.

Boy Repeats Boat Theft In Menasha

MENASHA — A 14-year-old Menasha boy, who faces a juvenile court hearing Aug. 22 for thefts of boats and articles from other craft, was apprehended Tuesday afternoon after another escape on Lake Winnebago without the owner's permission.

He was using a boat owned by Richard J. Schluessel, 622 Main St., Neenah, moored behind the Memorial Building. The owner checked at his mooring and found a marine service and found no trace of the boat. He looked on the lake and saw the boat and got a ride from another boy to chase it.

They chased Schluessel's boat to shore at the convent of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth on Brighton Drive. The boat thief ran the boat aground and ran through the brush.

Investigation showed the boy was the same one responsible for the other thefts. He is now in juvenile detention quarters in the county jail at Oshkosh.

Registration Set at Neenah Adult School

NEENAH — The Neenah Vocational and Adult Education classes will begin on Sept. 4 for an additional patrolman immediately and apprentices on ately Sept. 24 for adults.

Notices to juveniles not attending high school and apprentices will be sent out toward the end of August and because of the small enrollment, no special registration day is set. Classes will begin at 8 a.m. on the day after Labor Day.

Registration for adult classes will be made during the week of Sept. 17. Programming is now under way and classes available will be released the last week in August according to information from Dan Danielson, director.

Approve Salary of School Superintendent

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Board Tuesday approved a salary of $8,520 for the county superintendent of schools. The agreed-on price between the superintendent and committee is by the state. The superintendent will have only Winnebago and Wolf River Districts under her control with those districts paying the salary.

The superintendent's main office will be in Winnebago and she also will use room 155 in the books in the offices formerly the courthouse. It was voted to be used by the county superintendent turn over to the County Library.

Unlicensed Bartender Results in $29 Fine

NEENAH — The operator of a Neenah tavern, Mrs. Anne A. Lauger, was fined $29.50 by Judge Arnold J. Cane Tuesday afternoon for allowing an unlicensed bartender to work behind her bar.

The offense occurred late in the evening of Aug. 5 at the Bungalow Bar, 313 N. Commercial St.

Neenah Man Fined

NEENAH — Louis W. Buenger, 69, 1011 Henry St., forfeited bond of $29.50 Tuesday afternoon in Winnebago County Court Branch Three for disorderly conduct.

The offense occurred at 7:10 p.m. July 31 in the 100 block of West Wisconsin Avenue.

Park Development

MENASHA — Development of Clovis-Grove Park, adjoining the public school of the same name, is asked on a petition being circulated throughout the Sixth Ward.

2 Hurt When Cars Collide; One Hits Home

MENASHA — Two women were injured and taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon after a collision at Seventh and Manitowoc Streets.

The car driven by Mrs. George Mueller, 828 Seventh St., was thrust into the home of R. R. Booth, 800 Seventh St., climbing the curb and a 15-inch lawn retaining wall in the process. The car punctured the living room bay window. Mrs. Mueller, who received a breastbone fracture and bruises, is in satisfactory condition.

The other car involved was driven by Larry G. Rindt, 17, 215 N. Outagamie St., Appleton. His passenger, Miss Marilyn Kimpel, 18, 1704 W. Highland Ave., Appleton, received chest bruises and is in satisfactory condition.

Board Will Continue Care for Aged Study

Winnebago to Consider Possible Additions to Pleasant Acres Home

OSHKOSH — Continued investigation of the future direction Winnebago County will take in

Mrs. Virginia Nolan, chairwoman of the institutions committee, said this would include investigating possible additions to Pleasant Acres and the possibility of another building.

The county is faced with the fact that Pleasant Acres is now at capacity in its maximum care division and almost at capacity in other divisions. "There is a long waiting list of maximum care patients," Mrs. Nolan said.

If we are to continue to provide care for the aged we must provide modern facilities to supplement or replace existing buildings and equipment, Supt. Oliver Thomsen, a member of the institutions committee, said. He noted Pleasant Acres was built in 1881 and, while it was remodeled about 10 years ago, it needs further modernization.

Supv. Gerald Nordquist, Town of Oshkosh, contended the home should operate on a self-sustaining basis, the same as private nursing homes, or the county should get out of the business.

This is impossible to do and still meet state requirements, Thomsen replied.

The Neenah supervisor suggested investigating federal aid. "The Hill - Burton Act provides 40 per cent of funds needed for building hospitals and public medical institutions and homes for the aged," Thomsen estimated cost of an addition to Pleasant Acres could run as high as $8,000 a bed. The City of Berlin and Bethany Home in Waupaca have received federal aid, he added.

Supv. Max Carpenter inquired about using Sunnyview Sanatorium to supplement Pleasant Acres. Thomsen said he felt it was not good policy to use Sunnyview for two different purposes and to have a home for the aged in two locations.

The board also learned that state-ordered improvements at Sunnyview will cost about $25,000 instead of the originally estimated $7,000. Bids were opened late Tuesday afternoon before the board took up the matter.

Winnebago County's share will be 64 per cent and Fond du Lac County's 36 per cent. The two counties jointly operate the sanatorium.

The unexpected $18,000 item is for repairs to the heating plant. When the survey was made for the "minor" repairs ordered by the State Industrial Commission, it was found one of the boilers needed replacing.

Action on the bids was laid

Surplus Food Participation Will Wait

OSHKOSH — Participation by Winnebago County in the surplus commodities program will have to wait until at least 1963, county supervisors decided Tuesday.

Participation in the program for the remainder of 1962 would cost the county about $3,750. Welfare Director Norman Whitford told the board. He estimated annual cost would be about $15,000, including additional clerical help.

Supv. E. G. Steinhilber said the proposal was "coming at us kind of fast" and suggested tabling until the budget session so it could be studied more in detail.

In the program foods are made available from surpluses in storage of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. At the local level administration is by the County Welfare Department.

Low income families and people on relief would be eligible to participate.

over until the September board session so the additional money could be found.

Winnebago History Group Incorporates

WINNEBAGO — Winnebago Historical Society has filed articles of incorporation with the Winnebago County Register of Deeds. Purpose of the corporation will be to preserve, advance and disseminate knowledge of the history of Winnebago and the surrounding area.

Directors of the Society are Clarence Wine, Earl Armstrong, Katherine J. Coughlin, Mrs. Marie Green and Tom Hendry.

Minding Your Business

First Ask Medic Before You Change Jobs to Stop Pains

DEAR CY: I feel friskier than Man O'War's colts, and it wasn't always like this. For many people plagued with sickness, and feeling lousy all the time, O suggest a cure: Change jobs!

I worked at selling insurance for six years, seeing a doctor on an average of once a month for all sorts of complaints. You name it; I had it. Regardless of what people said, I was not a hypochondriac. Then a fellow I called on to sell insurance offered me a job as librarian for their large industrial organization. He knew I wasn't doing well selling insurance and that I loved books. After one year as a librarian, I am a new man, and doing a good job. I can hardly remember a doctor's name. All because of my job change.

MERRILL L. DEAR MERRILL: Emotional problems can produce physical pains. It is estimated that over 30 per cent of all patients seeing doctors have made from their molds. Accidents, emotional, rather than physical upsets. Any square peg in an oval hole appreciates how emotionally bruising the wrong business grind can be. I know an insurance man-turned-banker who experienced precisely what you did. As an insurance salesman, he was a king-sized flop. As a banker, he is terrific. Nevertheless, your sound advice can be easily misused. Anyone who contemplates taking it would be safer selling their doctor, or a psychiatrist first.

DEAR CY: I have been trying without success to find some molds . . . the kind to make cement figurines. My neighbor has some, about three feet high, of a coachman. I am 63 and retired, and would like to start a gift shop and sell products I make.

JIM MAUSER DEAR JIM: "How to Turn Concrete into Gold" is a booklet published by the Concrete Machinery company of Hickory, N.C. It sells for $2 and is one of the best explanatory booklets on any craft I have too. The Better Business Bureau feels legitimate music publishers do not accept payment by composers and writers. WITNESS SAYS FORMER SECRETARY SHOULD BE QUESTIONED ON RECORDS
WASHINGTON (AP)—A government auditor told Senate stockpile investigators Tuesday they should question George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury, and his son, Gilbert Humphrey, about burning of records covering multimillion-dollar profits on stockpiled nickel.

Walter M. Henson, a supervisor for the General Accounting Office who has spent months auditing the records and income taxes of the M. A. Hanna Corp., said the records were destroyed in February and March of this year. That was shortly after President Kennedy urged the current special Senate inquiry led by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

Officials Analyze Position Of America in Space Race

U. S. Experts Knew Russians Capable of Tandem Orbit Shot

BY JAMES MCCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Where does the United States stand now in the space race with the Russians? Have the Russian "Space Brothers" shown that we are further behind — or ahead — than the nation's space officials anticipated?

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and of the National Space Council say that the answers to those two questions are:

Where We Stand

1. We're still behind the Russians, as we have been since they first put a dog in orbit in 1957. But we're a lot closer to them now than we were then.

2. We are no further behind than officials anticipated. NASA and space council officials have long known that the Russians were capable of putting men in tandem orbits.

That doesn't mean that officials of either agency want to belittle the Russian achievement.

The Facts

But the facts are that: — The Russian tandem shots have exhibited no new or more powerful rocket boosters than they have used before.

— Their ability to put men in precise orbit is, while admirable, no greater than our own.

— Their booster power has always been their principal margin of excellence beyond our own — and they still have it. But in a way their desire to "rendezvous" in space is a confession that, like us, they haven't developed a booster powerful enough to reach the moon directly.

What the Russian shots do show, says Dr. Edward Welch, executive director of the National Space Council, is that they have powerful rockets, accurate guidance systems and effective life support systems.

But we have known they had all this. We've just never seen them put the three together in the dramatic fashion of the tandem shots.

And to this Dr. Welch adds: "Knowing they can do something, and seeing them actually do it, are two different things."

"Any way you look at it, what they have done is impressive."

NASA officials are most impressed by the fact that the Russians succeeded in getting the two men up into orbit within 24 hours of one another.

2 Crews

This, they feel, indicates that the Russians must have two launching crews. More than that, however, it indicates long and careful preparation for a space "rendezvous" system.

And that, to NASA officials, means that the Russians have long known that they would have to experiment with rendezvous techniques in order to explore outer space.

Officials point out, however, that the nearly identical orbits of the Russian spacemen don't represent an achievement beyond the ability of the United States.

We Have Done It

U.S. Astronauts John Glenn and Scott Carpenter were placed in almost the same orbits in their space flights. Glenn orbited the earth, for example, in 88.2 minutes, while Carpenter made the same trip in 88.3 minutes.

Their perigees and apogees were almost identical, too — Glenn's perigee, or low orbital point, being 97.6 miles, while Carpenter's was 100 miles, and Glenn's apogee being 159.3 miles while Carpenter's was 166.8 miles.

If the Glenn and Carpenter flights had followed one another within 24 hours they might have been able to achieve almost precisely what the Russians are achieving.

Our Rendezvous

However, the United States today has no plans to try that sort of rendezvous.

The only space rendezvous on the U.S. schedule is planned for Second 'Flying Boat' Ferry Service Opened

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — Britain's second ferry service by Hovercraft—a flying boat that supports itself on a cushion of air—has opened between this south England port and the Isle of Wight.

The fare is 10 shillings—$1.40—for the 10-minute, 5-mile crossing which is three times as expensive as the ordinary ferry, but the service is three times as fast.

It apparently has solved the problem of developing a powerful enough booster to reach the moon directly, without the necessity of a space rendezvous.

That would take a booster with about 12,000,000 pounds of thrust.

If the Russians have it, they haven't displayed it. And the fact that they are experimenting with the rendezvous system would seem to suggest that they don't have it.

The most powerful booster we expect to develop in the next decade, the Saturn C-5, will have about 7,500,000 million pounds of thrust. That is why we have been planning to resort to space rendezvous techniques.

Black Muslims Doom White Race

Islamic Leaders Deny Claims of Kinship by Extremist Movement

EDITORS NOTE: The Chicago Daily News assigned staff writer Ben Holman to get the facts about the Negro extremist Black Muslim movement. Here is the second of a series of eight stories reporting his findings.

BY BEN HOLMAN
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — The Black Muslims preach:

If you are white, if there is not a touch of yellow, red, brown or black in your skin color, you are approaching the end of your allotted time on earth.

If you are "blessed" with any of these pigmentation your "day of glory" is just around the corner of history.

This is a summation of the religious dogma that guides the hopes and dreams of the thousands of Black Muslims who swear allegiance to Elijah Muhammad. I learned it well during the weeks I attended closed meetings of the Muslims, posing as Nathaniel W. Parker, a new convert to the black supremacy movement.

Branch of Islam

The Black Muslims insist that their cult is a bona fide branch of Islam. In fact, Muhammad disdains the qualifying "black" in describing the Muslims.

Yet few authentic Moslems would recognize the doctrine he espoused. Islamic leaders in the United States, indeed, have frequently disavowed the Black Muslims.

Jazz singer Dakota Staton and her husband, Alhadij Talib Admad Dawoud, a Negro spiritual leader of a Moslem group in the East, filed suit in Philadelphia last June to halt the Black Muslim teachings were not those recognized by legitimate followers of the Islamic religion.

Miss Staton alleged that her career had been injured because she has been mistaken for a member of the Muslims. The suit contended that the Black Muslim teachings were not those recognized by legitimate followers of the Islamic religion.

Version of Evolution
Black Muslim dogma is variously exasperating, contradictory, unintelligible, humorous and pathetic.

According to their belief, planet earth was formed "six trillion years ago" when it was exploded from the moon.

The first inhabitants of earth "Original Man," were black men. They were divinely endowed. All were members of the "Tribe of Shabazz."

Original Man did not, however, originate in Africa. His initial habitat was Asia.

Creation of Whites
The white race was created from a mutation of the black man by a dissident member of the Shabazz Tribe named Yakub—a sort of prehistoric counterpart of

Yakub was none other than the "devil."
He labored "60 years" to create the first white man, forming yellow, red and other lighter skin shades in the process.
His final product, the most diluted, and hence most inferior being, was none other than "Adam."
From this point, Muslim dogma picks up from the Book of Genesis in the Bible.
When Adam sinned—introducing sin to the world for the first time—he was cast from the Garden of Evil.

End of White Rule
Allah decreed that the descendants of Adam, the white race—"Children of the Devil"—would have 6,000 years to rule the earth.

These 6,000 years also were to serve as a job-like "testing period" for the Black Man.

White rule was scheduled to end—at the white man's Armageddon—in 1914, and the black race was due to take over the world.

When this failed to materialize, the Black Muslims decided that an "indefinite grace period," now scheduled to end between 1970 and 2000, was granted.

U.S. Negroes to Lead
Meanwhile, Allah chose the nation of Islam in the wilderness of North America—to lead the black race to dominance.

Elijah Muhammad has been commissioned the "messenger of Allah" to prepare "The Nation" for its destined role.

A question often asked is whether Muhammad's followers really believe this strange amalgamation of fact and fiction.

Doubtlessly, most do. As a condition for membership, a Black Muslim must commit this dogma to memory. This presents both an obstacle and an advantage in recruitment.

Muhammad's weird, esoteric dogma repels many prospective members. Many who are willing under threat of expulsion from the movement.

As the Chinese Communists and may take months just to learn it by rote.
American prisoners of war, even those who enter recite it as well trination begin to conform under the constant pressure of repetition.
Muhammad's movement is shrewdly organized to woo potential members.

Kentucky Cannonballs
Iron manufacture was important in Kentucky during the War of 1812. Some of the cannonballs trination of his faithful is a new-fangled process. Attendance at in the battle of New Orleans were temple meetings is mandatory made in Bath County, Ky.

Indoctrination Works
Moreover, Muhammad's indoctrination of his faithful is a new-fangled process. Attendance at in the battle of New Orleans were temple meetings is mandatory made in Bath County, Ky.

Follow Letters Along Route To Find Slogan, Win Prize

BY CAPPY DICK

How would you like to win a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica "Great Books for Children"? Here's your chance!

Five sets of these 12 famous storybooks will be given as the national prizes in today's exciting contest. Included are these exciting stories:

"Tom Sawyer," "Treasure Island," "Arabian Nights," "Robinson Crusoe," "Alice in Wonderland," "Black Beauty," "Heidi," "King Arthur," "Tales from Shakespeare," "Andersen's Fairy Tales," "Robinson" and in the 12th volume, "Pinocchio" and "Aesop's Fables."

One set will be awarded to each boy or girl whose entry is judged to be one of the five best received from all cities where this column is published. Entries will be judged for accuracy, neatness and originality of preparation.

In addition, every contestant has a chance to win a local prize. In fact, to have your entry compete in the national contest you must first win a local prize. This is the Form-O-Gram Game, a pocket-size set of geometrically-shaped pieces with which you can form many amusing designs after which you are challenged to put the pieces back as they originally were in the form of a square. It's good for hours of fun!

Five Form-O-Gram Games will be awarded to boys and girls of the Post-Crescent circulation area whose contest entries are judged to be the neatest, most original correct ones. These winners will then compete (without any more work) for one of the five national prizes.

The contest puzzle is in the picture above. If you start at the correct number on the left side of the picture and follow the route from letter to letter to the correct number on the right side, you will spell a four-word slogan all boys and girls recognize as making good sense.

When you have discovered the slogan, clip out the picture, paste it on paper or a postal card, print the slogan beneath, together with your name, age and address, decorate your entry in any neat, original way with crayons, paints, cut-outs, etc., and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow to Cappy Dick's Midweek contest at the Post-Crescent.

Names of the prize winners will be published here. Their prizes will be sent to them by mail. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned. Judges' decisions will be final.

The slogan in this puzzle is something that makes good sense.

Smoking, I. Q. Often Related Among Youth

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (Welsh of the Harvard University School of Public Health, who made the survey, said they also found that I.Q.'s were lower for heavy smokers than for light smokers.

Non-smoking high school students had higher I.Q.'s and attained higher academic achievement than students who smoked, a survey covering 6,810 students in Newton, Mass., high schools indicates.

Drs. Eva J. Salber and Brian MacMahon and Miss Barbara demie achievement, or that low achievement results from smoking or that both are caused by a third circumstance.

They offered this theory: Pupils with superior grades are in good standing with their teachers and parents and are envied by their classmates. It may be that children who can't make good grades "find in taking up smoking a way of demonstrating their maturity and achieving acceptance in (different) group."

Boys between the ages of 9 and 12 have twice as many emotional problems as girls of that age, but in later years adolescent girls show more emotional disturbance than adolescent boys, a New York child psychiatrist says.

Dr. Stella Chess of Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital theorized that boys tend to show their resistance to strong parental pressures at an early age while girls generally repress their defiance until their teens. Then their hostility may take the form of chasing after boys. This alarms the parents who apply greater pressure leading to even more defiance and emotional imbalance.

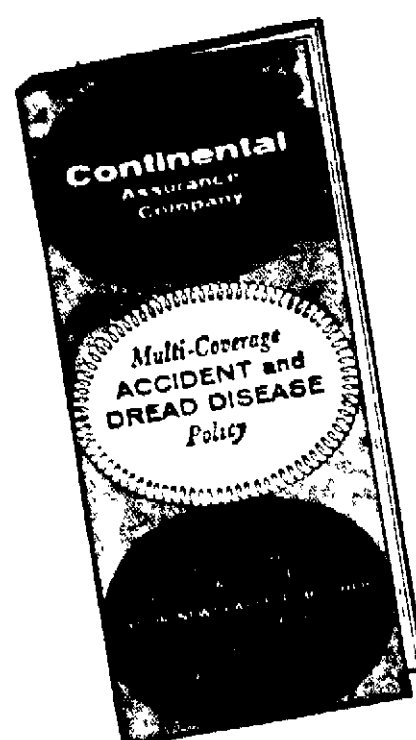

Dr. C. C. Dauer, medical advisor of the National Center for Health Statistics of the U.S. Public Health Service, said the mortality rate for cancer among children 1 to 4 years of age has more than doubled since 1930 and a has tripled in children 5 to 14 years old.

Legion Unit to Study Finances

Little Chute Group Considers Possible Donations to Hospital

LITTLE CHUTE — Members of the American Legion post Monday night authorized a committee to study unit finances to determine whether contributions can be made to the St. Elizabeth Hospital fund drive and the fund drive for convent buildings for the Dominican Sisters of acine.

Committee members headed by William Winius are Roger Koehn, Orville Bongers, Harold Van Dyke, James Peeters, Martin Jansen, Lester Winius, Sylvester Langedyke and Leo Lamers. Plans were made to conduct a membership drive Sept. 15 and 16 with Gene Vandehy to serve as drive chairman and Gene's Bar selected as membership headquarters. James Peeters was named chairman of a committee to plan activities of the Sept. 9 fall conference of the ninth district to be held at Little Chute. State Commander Donald "Mick" Skelly informed the post. James Peeters would serve a 3-year term on the Camp American Legion board. A work party to finish work on the therapy building and lay 100-feet of sidewalk will travel to Camp American Legion Sept. 22.

Bugle Corps
Members voted to have the Drum and Bugle Corps enter the Americana Contest at Appleton Sunday and to participate in a centennial parade to be held at Clintonville later this fall. Orville Bongers was authorized to arrange rides and concessions for the 1963 picnic and Frances Heesacker was named chairman of a golf team to compete in the State Legion tourney at Delavan.

William Winius, chairman of the Junior American Legion Baseball squad, reported the year could be termed successful since it was the first year of play after a 3-year absence from the league. The picnic committee reported over $5,000 had been realized in the 3-day affair.

Returning members of the Thirty-Second division were special guests.

Kaukauna School Board Okays Building Work

KAUKAUNA — Minor repair jobs were approved at a meeting of the board of education Tuesday evening including installation of new sidewalk at the entrance to the auditorium and repair of the entrance to the Vocational School.

Cost of the sidewalk repair project is $874 for the 1,392 square feet while cost of repairing the school entrance was listed at $257.50. Board members approved an increase in transportation costs for the 1962-63 school year as submitted by Elwood Kobussen, operator of school buses.

The school will pay $20 per day for small buses and $22.50 for the large buses. Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, was authorized to advertise for fuel oil bids, bids to be opened at the September board meeting.

The janitor was authorized to check leaking walls at the school in Harrison and report to the superintendent on possible ways of solving the problem. The superintendent was instructed to have the grade school physical education teacher reorganize a varsity grade basketball team at Park School, the team to be limited to playing teams in the immediate area.

Permit Issued For Addition To Drug Store

KAUKAUNA — A building permit to construct 25 by 100-foot addition to the Look Drug Store, 116 E. Second St., was issued to Walter Glaff, contractor for the project.

The addition will be on a site adjacent to the existing store. An older building was removed to make room for the new structure. The $18,000 structure will be a 1-story affair with a basement. It will be of concrete block construction with a steel deck. Height of the first floor will be 11 feet and the structure will incorporate 2,500 square feet of floor space.

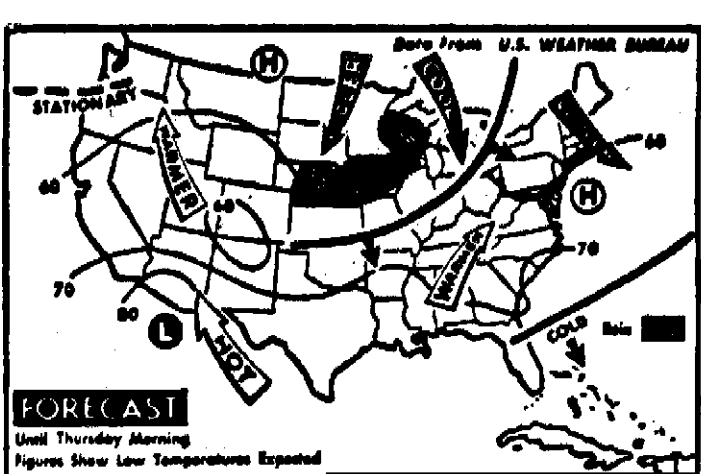

The 7-foot high basement will provide stock storage space.

New Northside School

Sauter, Seaborne Named Designer for Junior High

The Appleton firm of Sauter and Seaborne was named architect for the proposed northside junior high school by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

Present plans call for the school to be completed by the fall of 1964. Estimated cost of the school in the city's five-year capital improvement plan is $1.5 million.

The architects will start meeting with a faculty building committee as soon as school starts. Tentatively plans will be ready for bidding in January.

The school will be built on an 18-acre site north of Florida Ave. between extensions of Durkee and Lawe streets.

The board turned down suggestions by the city council in 1959 and December, 1961, that additions to Roosevelt and Wilson Jun-

Prospective AHS Students Should Enroll at Once

Any pupils who plan to attend Appleton High School this fall should enroll at the school immediately. Principal Herbert H. Helble said today.

This includes students who have moved to Appleton, transfers from other high schools, and former students.

Helble also asked that any high school pupils moving from Appleton notify the school.

Enrollment at the high school is now at 1,782 pupils, 200 more than on Sept. 1, 1961.

Classes in typing, chemistry and shop courses have been filled and have a waiting list, despite noon classes in these fields, Helble said.

The high school office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Monday Evening Dances Begin Playgrounds' 'Farewell Summer'

Appleton's young people have had a dancing summer. The Recreation Department has sponsored square dance lessons each Monday evening at Jefferson School and Rock and Roll dances each week at one of the playgrounds.

Now concluding their summer program, the playgrounds' final dances of the season took place Monday evening. Other activities which will wind up the week's 'Farewell Summer' theme are the presentation of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs at 8 p.m. today at Madison Junior High School; the Farewell Summer party at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Pierce Park, including the Spelling Bee championship, Olympic Awards, the playground talent show, the playleaders special, the crowning of the playground King and Queen for 1962 and the Grand Ball Dance.

The playground clean up will be held at all playgrounds Friday.

The Rock and Roll dancers at Lincoln School had an audience of on-lookers Monday evening. Above, Nancy Milhaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milhaupt, and Betty DeDecker, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice DeDecker, get into the swing of the music.

Square Dancers at Jefferson School knew what they were about by the time the season ended Monday. In fact, those above were so adroit at their maneuvers that they managed to elude the photographer who attempted to ask their names. The last dance of the Recreation Department summer square dance program took place Monday at Jefferson School.

'Swing Your Partner' was a step with which the square dancers were familiar and they did it with skill at the final dance of the season. At left, Catherine Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz, and Ruth Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley, dance at the Rock and Roll party at Lincoln School. At right, playground leaders Jan Luebke and Ted Weiss joined the young playgrounders for a turn at the Twist. (Post-Crescent Photos)

All Dyed to Match With a Look You'll Love

A picture must be seen to be enjoyed. With this thought in mind, many families have given favorite photos prominent places in their homes. Subjects of these photographs are usually members of the family or family activities. Children, of course, take the spotlight.

No Rules to Follow
Emphasis is on tasteful display, showing the photos and at the same time enhancing the decor of a room. Photos can be hung singly, in pairs or in large groupings. A large area may require a large portrait or a group of smaller photos. Groupings can be interesting and one need follow no particular rule, except perhaps to see good balance and study the wall space carefully before making a decision. Furniture and accessories are an important consideration; and it is advised that a picture or picture grouping be related to a piece of furniture rather than stand alone. The scale of the furniture in relation to the photo is important.

Frames can be different in one grouping. Pictures can also be dissimilar.

Group them over a long sofa, using imagination. This can be effective, with off-center hanging, a formal grouping or informal placement in keeping with the style of furniture and accessories. Arrange them in checkerboard fashion, using as much space as required or suitable.

Create Portrait Gallery
Turn a dull hallway or stairway into a family portrait gallery. It's a fine place to honor loved ones and keep their faces before the family. In addition, guests can examine the photos as they pass by. Tell a story of a family event or activity or special vacation. This can be done effectively in a den or family room.

Mount pictures on a book case wall for a special effect. Pegboard can also be put to use in displaying the photos. Use them on room dividers. A vertical picture rack is one idea. Pictures have also been used to frame a viewless window.

The Wall Arrangement above this desk shows how portrait photographs can be an attractive focal point in a room. Photographs of the family surround a photograph of the favorite hobby—its boat. A tasteful display of photographs shows off the family and enhances the decor of a room.

Build A Family Tree
Provide a visible family tree, using favorite portraits or photos. These can even be snapshots. The entire family is pictured; and the pictures can be replaced as new ones are received.

Special treatment can be given to picture groupings in rooms for young people. In a girl's room, photos can be hung with ribbons. A boy's taste might require more formal arrangement.

In a montage arrangement, pictures taken individually of the entire family can be reproduced and grouped together in one frame.

There are hundreds of ideas for picture hanging. Imagination can make the wall photo treatment a personal thing, a warm touch to room decoration.

Suds Ventilators

Most kitchen ventilators are washable, so remove all grills and air filters. Then suds, rinse, and dry them according to the manufacturer's directions.

SEAMS TO ME Questions On Sewing

By Patricia Scott

There are some things we must buy ready-made, because the necessary materials are not available for retail trade. In these cases, there is nothing that can be done, as with the lady below who won't be able to buy a certain material necessary for her work.

Q. Please give instructions on how to make dress shields to match dresses, as one can buy only black or white shields.—Mrs. H. H. W.

A. Giving instructions on how to make shields would be easy, but what would you do for fabric? Shields are made of two fabrics, one is a cotton that goes next to the skin and the other is a waterproof material. The waterproof part is, of course, vital and you cannot buy this fabric.

Q. I'd like to make several toaster covers to match my kitchen curtains. Could you help me? Thank you.—Mrs. T. B. B.

A. You'll need 3/4 of a yard of fabric; 1 1/4 yards of corded piping; 1 1/4 yards of jumbo rickrack; 1 1/4 yards of baby rickrack. Cut the toaster cover as shown in the diagram: two side pieces eight or 12 inches and one top piece 6x26 1/2 inches. Round off top corners of the two 8x12 inch pieces as shown. Stitch piping to the right side of these sections, stitching around the two short sides and one long side. With right sides together, seam the long strip to the side sections over the piping stitching line. Turn cover right side out and press. Turn lower edge under 1/4 inch and press. Add baby rickrack trim over this turned edge and top stitch. Add jumbo rickrack from wrong side, so that only one edge of points show.

Q. Is it possible to shorten a wool skirt at home? How can it be cut so it won't ravel?—Mrs. G. S.

A. Measure your skirt length and decide how wide you wish the finished hem to be. If, let's say, you wish to cut off 2 inches, measure up 2 1/2 inches (1/2 inch above where you wish to cut) and machine stitch all around the hem at this point. This will stay stitch

Manicure Fingernails Naturally

If you're one of the women who constantly complain that she can't grow fingernails, take a good look at the sides of your nails and notice how they've been filed.

Nine chances out of ten, the nails have been filed incorrectly with the sides, which are the nails' main supports, whittled away at a 45 degree angle. The implement which you are using is also of great importance as well as the manner in which you use it.

When you have a professional manicure, does the manicurist ever take out a metal file and begin sawing away? If she does, run—don't walk—right out of the salon! This creates friction that causes the nail to split and peel. Use the shaping side of the file first, then the finishing side to remove any rough edges. Little imperfections and catches in the nail can always be easily retouched with the finishing side in a few deft strokes.

Steps to Neater Hands
Your nails will grow longer and stronger, provided you shape them in the following way:

Hold the file at a 45 degree angle to the nail and file in one direction only toward the center of the nail. Do not saw back and forth! This creates friction that causes the nail to split and peel. Use the shaping side of the file first, then the finishing side to remove any rough edges. Little imperfections and catches in the nail can always be easily retouched with the finishing side in a few deft strokes.

Never, never, never cut down the sides of the nails. It is best, when you are first in the process of allowing the sides to grow out, to grow what looks like perfectly square nails. After the newly-grown sides reach the tip of the finger, bevel the edge very slightly. Do not, under any circumstances, cut it away.

Women feel all too often that their hands look more graceful and tapered if they file the sides; nothing could be further from reality. Hands only look graceful when the nails are allowed to grow naturally and normally. Filing down the sides of the nails to force them into an artificial oval, detracts from the true shape of your hands and makes your skirt so the knitted stitches won't unravel when you cut it. (Copyright, 1962) the nail look out of proportion to the finger. This is the aesthetic viewpoint.

Mrs. Greg Schulte won the B flight, Mrs. Herbert Harwood, C flight, and Mrs. Clarence DeWitt, D flight. Mrs. Schulte also received low putts and Mrs. Harwood sunk an approach shot on the sixth hole for a birdie. Mrs. Arch Hoffman won the mystery hole.

From a purely practical point of view, if the sides of the nail are removed, so is the support with the result that even the slightest knock or jar can break the nail, since its main source of "shoring" has been taken away. Nails incorrectly shaped also have a tendency to develop callouses at the edges and are more vulnerable to hangnails and other problems.

Writer Too Frivolous

Nothing could be more serious than an international bridge championship, and I therefore take my hand from that deep source of serious bridge. Keep your eyes peeled, now, for some sparkling expert bridge.

West opened the nine of clubs, and South congratulated himself when the dummy appeared on the table. He hadn't made the mistake of bidding too much. He was sure to lose two trump tricks, the ace of diamonds, and the ace of clubs. Game was out of the question, so he could relax and play at his comfortable part-score contract.

Declarer played low from the dummy, and East played low also, assuming that his partner had led the top of a worthless club holding. (Incidentally, this is why most experts refrain from leading the nine from such a holding as West's.) South won with the singleton king of clubs, somewhat to his surprise.

Steals Diamond
South next led the nine of diamonds and stole a trick with dummy's queen when West played low. He returned a low club from dummy, on which East put up the ace, since East still thought that South must have the jack of clubs.

South ruffed out the ace of clubs and led a heart to dummy's king to discard the king of diamonds on the established queen of clubs. By this time South had put the aces of clubs and diamonds to sleep, but more was to come.

South ruffed a diamond and led a low trump from his hand. West stepped up with the king of spades, only to lose to his partner's singleton ace. The ace of trumps was the only card the defenders couldn't toss away, but South made the rest of the tricks.

"We missed a cold slam!" South complained at the end of the play. Nothing frivolous about him!

Daily Question
A dealer, you bid one heart and partner responds one spade. The opponents pass, and it is up to you again, holding: S Q 7 2 H A K 6 4 3 D Q 7 C Q 5 4.

Answer: Bid one no trump or two spades. Partner's response is forcing for one round, so you cannot pass. If your partner had passed to begin with (as in the diagram), you could pass his response of one spade.

SS France Uses Plastics
The first travelers stepping off the fabulous new ocean liner, S.S. France, were enthralled by the beauty and comfort of the largest passenger ship ever built.

One voyager lyricized: "From bow to stern, walls, fabrics, show-ers and flooring are an ode to plastics!" Evidently the French Line intends to keep its floating palace as suds-and-water clean on its 1,000th sailing as on its maiden voyage.

Overcrowding Perennial Problem for Parochials

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Overcrowding is a perennial problem in parochial schools," said one principal.

And 1962 is no exception. With most parochial schools filled to or past capacity, the principals, like the old woman who lived in the shoe, don't know what to do.

Classes are large, reaching an average of 40 last year and going as high as 50 in some classrooms.

A number of schools will open additional classrooms this year. Some have considered renting portable classrooms or other space outside the schools. Many are talking about building, immediately or as soon as possible.

But as the school population increases faster than the additional classrooms, many have been forced into the temporary and unsatisfactory solution of limiting enrollment, with the additional children attending public schools.

Only one of the 15 Fox Cities Catholic schools and five of the 11 Lutheran schools have kindergartens. Five Catholic schools also are sending their first graders to public schools. Most older children have been squeezed in, although occasionally registration has been closed in upper grades as room runs out.

About 2,360 young people will attend the three Catholic and one Lutheran high schools in the Fox Cities this fall.

Xavier High School, Appleton, expects 1,150 pupils, an increase of about 200. The school has been able to accept all who enrolled, but will reach the ultimate this year. If enrollment continues to increase, said Father Peter, director, the board of pastors will have to evolve some method of limiting it.

The new school, which graduated its first class of seniors this spring, ran out of classroom space for this fall. Renting a portable classroom was considered, but the school decided instead to postpone equipping an art laboratory for one year in order to use this room as a classroom. A lay committee is discussing building plans for the high school.

Fox Valley Lutheran High School, Appleton, will have about 350 pupils, about the same as last year. There is no more room until we have an addition, said the Rev. Harold Warnke, principal. So far the school has squeezed in all who enrolled but has been unable to seek additional students, he said. A fund drive for debt retirement was conducted among supporting congregations last year, and money will be raised for an addition when the debts are paid.

St. John High School, Little Chute, will have about 385 pupils, an increase of 30. The school has been able to accept all who enroll but is passing its capacity.

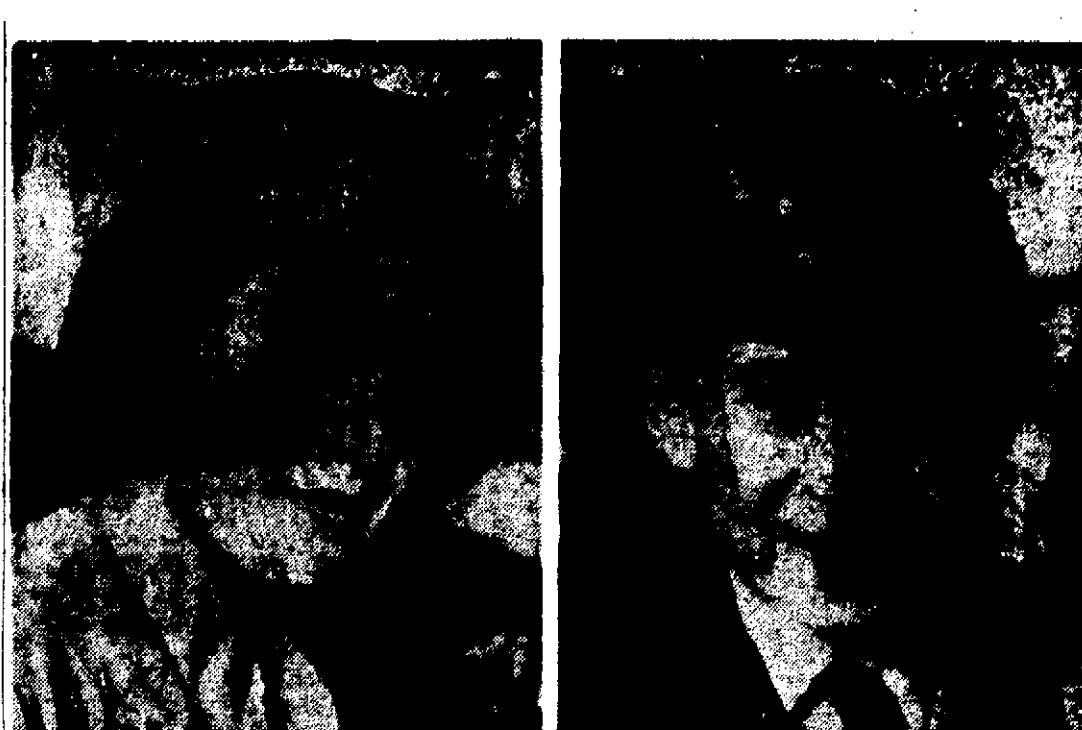

Building Addition

St. Mary High School, Menasha, expects about 474 pupils. An addition to be started this fall will help relieve crowding in both the high school and grade school.

St. Therese Catholic School, Appleton, will have 1,150 pupils. The school thought this spring it might have to send part of its first graders to public school, but has opened an additional classroom and to date has been able to accept all pupils.

A new Catholic parish planned for northeast Appleton will eventually relieve the crowding at St. Therese.

St. Joseph Catholic School, Appleton, expect about 980 youngsters. St. Mary Catholic School, Appleton, will have about 630.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

MIXED UP PARTY

A couple invited us to dinner Sunday and asked us to come at 5. We arrived on time and so did two other couples who had been invited. After the first hour of conversation, nothing happened and the hostess didn't go near the kitchen. She obviously had most everything prepared in advance, but like any dinner, there are always a few last minute kitchen duties before the food is brought to the table. During the second hour of just "sitting around and wondering", our hostess' sister, husband and three small children dropped in for a casual call. The children were noisy and naughty and nothing was done to quell the horse play. The parents had no idea that a party had been scheduled. Don't you think that the family of five should have departed within a reasonable length of time after their how-do-you-do's? They stayed until about 7:45 and you can be sure that conversation ceased until then for no one could bear anything after the children took over. We finally sat down at 9 and by that time we were so disgruntled that we didn't enjoy ourselves. I would like your comment.

Louise Davis Answers:
Your hostess' sister and family were rude and thoughtless, knowing on arrival that a party was in progress. Yes, they should have departed as soon as it was politely possible. Having the guests come to dinner at 5 and serving at 9 was indeed strange. I hope that your hostess apologized for the unannounced and unplanned family intrusion which lasted much too long.

Crisp Salads

Garden vegetables will always be ready for use if you have a big crispener in your refrigerator. Crispers in refrigerators are porcelain coated and can be taken to the sink for thorough washing. Wash and dry salad greens thoroughly before cooling them. They keep fresh and crisp longer when clean and dry.

Increase of 50

St. Mary Catholic School, Kaukauna, expects about 900 pupils, an increase of 50. Three eighth grade classes with about 120 pupils will attend the new St. Aloysius School, which will be operated this year as an annex of St. Mary's, when it is complete. For two years, about 160 first graders from St. Mary's parish have attended public school, each year.

Holy Cross Catholic School, Kaukauna, will enroll about 740 pupils, about the same number as in 1961. The school had to start limiting the lower grades last year, closing registration when enrollment reached 50 in a room, and a few pupils could not be accepted.

Trinity Lutheran School, Kaukauna, which has kindergarten and eight grades, expects about 155 pupils, with no overcrowding problem.

Mt. Calvary Lutheran School, Kimberly, expects about 72 pupils again this fall. Extra room is needed and the school is thinking about building, although no definite plans have been made.

Double Session

Enrollment at Holy Name Catholic School, Kimberly, will increase by about 70 pupils to 1,035. The double session for eighth graders will not be needed this year. First graders have been at public schools for three years, and this will continue to be necessary until the school is expanded. No registration is made of first graders, but the school has about 180 second graders.

St. John Catholic School, Little Chute, will have about 1,020 elementary pupils, an increase of 35, making the total enrollment for the grade school and high school about 1,405. The school is crowded but has been able to accept all who enroll, except that first graders attend public school. The school would have about 150 first graders.

St. Gabriel Catholic School, Neenah, a new school, is one of the few parochial schools which has extra room. It will have about 500 pupils.

St. Margaret Mary Catholic School, Neenah, expects about 540 pupils, an increase of about 40, and will have one additional classroom. The fifth and sixth grades are crowded, and registration will be closed when they are filled.

Grace Lutheran School, Neenah.

There's Lesson to be Learned From Kind-Hearted Woman

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Would you say this woman is big-hearted or is she off her rocker?

This relative of mine has a nice - room home and six children. Her own work is never done, yet she is always running over to the neighbor's or to a friend's to help out when there is illness or a death in the family. When her cousin went to the hospital to have a fourth child, she took the three little ones into her home for five days and cooked dinner for the husband every night.

This woman's husband makes just enough to get by, yet she buys shoes and winter coats for the neighbor children who look to me as if they are better dressed than her own.

I took a psychology course in high school and I remember reading about do-gooders. They feel unloved and inadequate and hope to gain recognition and acceptance by knocking themselves out for others. What do you think about this?—Just Wondering

DEAR WONDERING: I think perhaps you feel inadequate and unloved, and hope to downgrade this woman's generosity by reading selfish motives into her acts of kindness.

She sounds warm-hearted and wonderful and is undoubtedly getting a great deal of satisfaction out of life. Why don't you take a lesson?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband left me three years ago and I went to work to support my two children. The boy was never any trouble. He seemed to be born with grown-up brains. The girl had a bad temper from infancy and I could never control her.

When Dolores was 13 she began to run with a bad crowd. She painted up like a tramp, sneaked my high heels out the back door and I never knew where to find her. Now she's barely 15 and busting out of her blouses and skirts. I'm sure she's in trouble. I've hinted about her weight but she says she's been drinking a lot of malteds lately.

A woman I work with has a daughter who got into a fix last year. The boy wouldn't marry her. She knew somebody who arranged to give the baby to a nice family. They paid all the bills and gave her $200 besides. I've heard about homes for unwed mothers, but I don't know where they are. Please help me. I'm worried sick and I don't know where to turn.

DEAR BERTHA: Tell your daughter you are not blind and that it's perfectly obvious that she's in trouble. This girl must have medical attention at once. Running away from the problem will not make it vanish. Please send me a stamped envelope with your name and address on it and I will send you a list of homes for unwed mothers in your vicinity.

Don't become involved with friends who "know somebody." Stick to legitimate agencies. Too often girls in trouble fall into the hands of unscrupulous operators and the results are tragic.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I grew up in my grandparents' home because my mother died when I was an infant and my father was unable to take care of me. My grandparents were wonderful people. They gave me a solid religious background.

Three years ago my father remarried a woman who belongs to a religious group which I consider "far-out." She is very active in her church and is always attempting to recruit new members. I am married now and have small children. When my step-mother comes to visit she talks to me about her religion constantly. She also takes the children aside and works on them. Between visits she sends me tons of literature in the mail. Whenever I see one of those envelopes I see red. My husband says I should send everything back and then she'll leave me alone. I hesitate to do this because I'm sure it would create a breach between us. Do you have an opinion?—No Prospect

DEAR NO PROSPECT: Don't return the literature. Simply toss it out unopened, and make no comment. The next time your stepmother begins to talk about her religion in your home, tell her firmly—but politely—that it is a forbidden subject so far as you are concerned and to please not bring it up again.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright 1962)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Not necessarily. The act may be for the young adolescents be cruel, but the man may not be. He may have just been badly treated by someone whom he is college-trained youth.

True— False—
False. There are serious shortages of skilled manpower as trained technicians. There are openings for 25,000 machinists, electronics technicians, tool and die workers, and machine operators. A Presidential commission has reported a shortage of 46,000 technicians needed to take the mammoth road-building program off the drawing boards and put it into action. In sending too many of our kids to college we are depriving many of them of good jobs, and our country of badly needed technicians, says guidance specialist Walter Lifton. (Copyright 1962)

Sweet Thermos
Thermos bottles and picnic containers develop a stale odor when closed and not used frequently. Wash the containers in hot soapy water then rinse with a solution of soda and warm water. Rinse in clear hot water. Dry containers, but let bottles air-dry. It is a good idea to rub corks and bottle covers with dry baking soda occasionally. (Copyright 1962)

Only Few Vacancies On Staffs

Almost 1,300 teachers will be employed in Fox Cities schools this fall. This makes an average of about one teacher for each 27 pupils.

Only a few vacancies remain on teaching staffs, in the specialized fields that are most difficult to fill.

The number of teachers will be increased by more than 70 over 1961 staffs. At least 225 of the teachers will be new to their school systems, with figures not yet complete for parochial schools.

Fox Cities school administrators had the most difficulty filling positions in specialized fields such as speech correction, guidance, special education, dental hygiene, physical education, art and music. Also difficult to find were teachers of high school English, foreign languages, kindergarten and primary grades.

Appleton will have 406½ teachers, an increase of 34½. Some 67½ will be new to the school system. Four vacancies remain on the staff in elementary speech correction, elementary French, and a girls' guidance counselor and a put librarian for the high school.

200 Teachers
A staff of 200 will teach in the Neenah schools this fall. Forty teachers from attached schools and 30 others will be new. The staff was increased by 13. Vacancies remaining include one in elementary art and two in special education.

Menasha will have 106 teachers with 25 of them new to school system. The superintendent is still hunting for a dental hygienist.

Kaukauna will have a total staff of 120. The 12 new teachers include six replacements, four additional high school teachers and two additional elementary school teachers. Three teachers were added with the attachment of part of the Harrison District, including the school at Sherwood.

Kimberly's teaching staff will grow from 62 to 63 this fall, with the attachment of Combined Locks and other areas. Two vacancies remain, for a first grade teacher and a high school French-English teacher.

Little Chute will have 10 teachers, one of them new to the school.

Xavier High School, Appleton, will have a total staff of 48 teachers, 13 of them new. The vacancies in art and music were most difficult to fill.

Fox Valley Lutheran High School, Appleton, will have two at St. John Catholic School, Little new teachers on its staff of 17.

Teaching staffs for other Appleton parochial schools will total increase of one, in the high school at St. Theresa Catholic School, school Pictures Hang Too High?

BY ELIZABETH HILLYER
Especially if you make the green of the commonest of all room patterning on the curtains sparsely. Fortunately, it's one of the easiest to correct. Look around the room you're sitting in now. Would it improve if all the pictures were pulled down two to eight inches?

Pictures should never distantly overlook furniture beneath them. There's an immediate difference in the room when pictures stop ignoring furniture and move close enough to it so the two together create unified decorative groupings. This unity has a restful effect, helps to keep walls from looking cluttered, and corrects the uneasy feeling pictures can cause when they seem to be flying upward to the ceiling. As soon as they come down from lonely high perches, pictures appear to belong to the room as they didn't before, and are easier to look at and enjoy. Experiment must decide every picture's exact right position. It may help to aim the picture's center of interest—not its actual center—at a point 5 feet from the floor, but lower hanging is often better.

Mrs. C. F. T.: "Am I planning too many colors for our living room? It has white walls and the mirror's frame with posey avocado green wall-to-wall carpet, clay or scotch tape. (If your particular frame is not suitable for this sofa, a tangerine chair and a purpose, attach the cases just inside the frame.) Fill the tiny holders with roses, dwarf geraniums, carnations, gardenias or daisies. When your feminine guests look at themselves in the mirror they aren't brown, brown in fabrics in creases a color already in the flower enhanced image.

Unless woods in the room at themselves in the mirror they aren't brown, brown in fabrics in creases a color already in the flower enhanced image.

The Ailing House Bleach Will Clear Tile Grouting

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The grouting between tiles in the bathroom, especially in the shower stall, is becoming dark and dingy. What can I use to clean it?

A: Try cleaning with a household bleach (use a small, stiff brush), allowing to remain four to five minutes, then rinsing thoroughly with clear water. If not successful, grouting will have to be replaced. Rake out the present cement with a sharply pointed screw driver or beer can opener and brush out all loose particles and powder. Wet the inside surfaces and fill with grouting preparation available at tile and housewares dealers.

Q: I have a small workshop and tool shed, built several years ago. Roll roofing was put on it. How can the roofing be repaired? It is becoming badly worn.

A: A tar type roof coating should be applied to roll roofing. This is available at dealers in roofing materials or building supplies.

Paint Washes on Brick

Q: We live in a two-story home; bottom is red brick and the upper part is wood painted white. How can I clean the brick from the paint washing down on it? With every rain, it washes down further.

A: Use a prepared paint remover, available at paint and hardware stores, following label directions carefully. If the pigment is deeply embedded, complete removal may be very difficult. Some paint and masonry dealers carry excellent masonry cleaning preparations; well worth investigating.

To prevent further staining as the house paint "chalks," give the brick surface a coat of transparent, liquid waterproofing; available at masonry supplies dealers and lumber yards.

Q: In the kitchen of my home is a black asphalt tile which I would like to cover with a lighter tile because the kitchen is quite small. The tile is pasted on a cement floor. Must the old tile be removed? It would be quite a project to remove the tile now down.

A: Floor covering dealers generally do not recommend putting down one floor covering over another for the excellent reasons that if anything happens to the adhesive on the bottom layer, the top layer will also be affected. However, if the present tile adheres tightly and is absolutely smooth you might take a chance, as many others do successfully. Suggest consulting your tile dealer and getting his recommendation on your particular floor.

Italian Touch

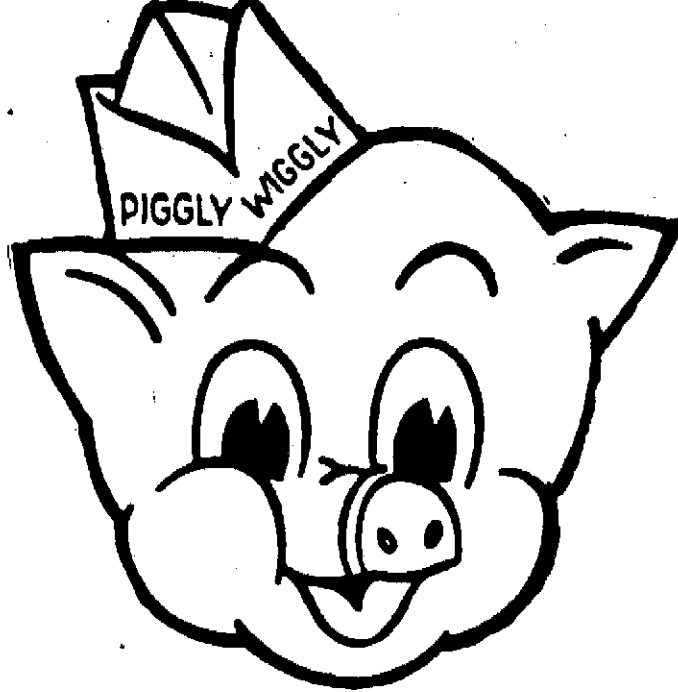

Italian restaurants offer a plate of assorted appetizers as the first course of an Italian meal. It consists of strips of anchovy, pickled red, yellow and green peppers, mushrooms, olives, salami and other cold meats, wedges of tomato, stuffed celery stalks, etc. A variety of pickled foods can be kept on the shelves in the door of the refrigerator. These foods can also be used for garnishing. Their bright colors add appeal to a variety of foods.

Brunch Treat

Brunch delicacy: Cut bacon slices into crosswise pieces; alternate on small skewers with mushrooms (fresh or canned) and broil. Serve with scrambled eggs.

Ethiopia Unique Among Nations With Ancient Dynasty, Church

Christianity State Religion Among People Torn Between History, Future

BY SMITH HEMPSTONE
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service
ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA —
There is no place in the world quite like Ethiopia, the once legendary land of Prester John. This country of spectacular mountains and thirsty deserts, covering most of Africa's eastern horn, is slightly smaller than France and Spain combined and has a population of about 20,000,000. It boasts a dynasty that traces its descent from the couch of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba and has the only indigenous Christian church in Africa south of the Sahara. Although Christianity is the state religion, 40 per cent of Ethiopia's people are Moslems, restive under Addis Ababa's rule, and 20 per cent are Animists.

One out of every six Ethiopian Christians is a priest and the Church, like the nobility (for Ethiopian society is feudal in structure), owns vast tracts of land. Christian Ethiopians wear jodhpurs and cloaks, shade themselves under umbrellas of straw, and carry horse-tail fly whisks which are useful as well as decorative. Some Ethiopian damsels tie their hair with ribbons of bright silk; others plait it with the bowels of cattle. Barbarity Still Alive
The American-trained army boasts light tanks and jet fighter planes but warriors in the interior still brand around in collars of lions' manes emasculating each other. Ethiopia has three times as many head of livestock as people, but coffee, which grows wild in Ethiopia (which is said by some to be the home of the bean), is the principal export. In the old days — and the old days were not so long ago — bodies of traitors were thrown into the streets to rot and could not be buried. Signs of the Old

When the officers of his imperial bodyguard rebelled against him last December, Haile Selassie had the leaders publicly hanged, to the great amusement of the citizenry, although he did allow the bodies to be buried. There were no schools in Ethiopia until 1908 (today only 5 per cent of the country's children go to school) and Ethiopia, independent through all its history except for the brief (1836-1941) Italian occupation, had no constitution until 1931. In some remote areas, creditors still chain themselves to their debtors; the plaintiff in a case must provide food for the accused and his guards. Ethiopian pilots of American-managed Ethiopian airlines fly multi-engined planes but many areas of the country are still innocent of the wheel. There are only 20 Ethiopian doctors, one for every 1,000,000 people. Modern Touches

This city of 400,000 people — Addis Ababa means, "new flower" — is only about 80 years old. Before it was built, the Ethiopian emperors ruled from a great shifting city of tents. Its streets are jammed with flocks of sheep being herded to market, burros laden with firewood, pith-helmeted members of the imperial guard and bereted soldiers and police, black-robed coptic priests followed by their servants, "hot" sports cars driven with abandon by Ethiopian youngbloods, and stuttering motorcycle taxis. Addis Ababa has dial telephones, an opera house that has never shown an opera one building with a revolving door, and hundreds of brothels. Rise of Islam
Country people bow when passing a church and gaze in fascination at the traffic lights, which are regarded as decorative rather than functional. Remote and strange as Ethiopia seems, the White world has known this land since three centuries before Christ. Until the middle of the Seventh Century, Ethiopia, although distant and barbaric, lay on the fringes of a friendly Christian world. The rise of Islam slammed the door of history in Ethiopia's face. Sealed off from the world by Moslem idwies, wild mountains, parched deserts and her own ignorance, Ethiopia has slept for a thousand years, introverted and proud. There is no Ethiopian just as there is no American, but in a far more profound sense because the absence of communications until relatively recent times has made it impossible here to gloss over tribal and regional differences. No Ethiopian Political unity was not achieved until 1880, and then by force of arms. Consequently, a Somali camelman from Harar has about as much in common with a fuzzy-headed Wallega from Lekkempti as a Swede has with a Chinaman. The most important tribe is the Christian Amharas of the central plateau, a short people of mixed Semite-Hamitic origin who have

Caucasian features, considerable native intelligence, and a penchant for intrigue. Emperor Haile Selassie and most of the Ethiopian nobility are Amharas. Centuries ago the Amaras evolved one of Africa's languages, a formidable tongue with its own script and 276 squaggy characters. Of all the lands of modern Africa, Ethiopia is probably the most Schizophrenic. Nation Awakening
Obsessed of its traditional institutions, such as the monarchy and the church, and proud of its ancient freedom, it finds itself at once distasteful of Parvenu African Nationalism (Ethiopians, while they may be dark as pitch, do not consider themselves "black") and anxious to play a leading role in the movement, lest it become Nationalism's victim. Nor is Ethiopia insulated within its own borders from change, as the December coup indicated. Slowly but surely Ethiopia is awakening from its centuries-long sleep. Presents Challenge
Today is a time of change and challenge, an uncomfortable period during which the new, educated generation is anxious to grasp the power their elders are unwilling to give up. It is a time of strain — strain on men and strain on institutions, both struggling to adapt themselves to new conditions and problems. The new Ethiopia is still being born; the old has yet to die. The two live side by side, uneasily rubbing shoulders, the one of a definition of itself.

Wednesday, August 15, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent C8

New Trade School Racket Prospers

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The first faint signs are emerging of the revival of another despicable consumer racket in the U.S. — this one involving phony trade schools cashing in on the widespread publicity about the need for retraining our unemployed and the eagerness of both young uneducated and older displaced workers to learn skills to fit them for jobs.

All consumer swindles are revolting and one reason is that they hit hardest the ignorant and poor, those least able to afford to lose the money and time. This racket deserves the description.

It thrived mightily after World War II when under the GI Bill, armies of veterans flocked to private trade schools to get training for jobs. It was cleaned up after several major scandals and now the National Council of Home Study Schools in Washington helps with self-policing of its members. But the threat of a rebirth of the racket is inherent in the passage of the historic Manpower Training Act of 1962, under which the U.S. Government will start spending $435 million over a three-year period to train the unemployed for jobs which surveys will indicate are available (will start spending the funds and getting the program off the ground, that is, as soon as Congress votes the money ordered for the program).

So far, the problem is not "great," says Tom Roberts of the Assn. of Better Business Bureaus. It's mainly in the home study area and in pulp magazine ads which get kids to subscribe for courses for which they are not qualified or which promise unrealistic job results.

"Major Racket" But Roberts adds that when the "talk about retraining" under the new law becomes action, the racket well may spread and there are enough isolated cases of frauds turning up now to flash a warning to government officials.

In charge of the law to put in safeguards from the start.

In New York, for instance, Attorney General Leftkowitz already calls the schools "a major consumer racket," is checking "electronic data processing" schools which promise $30,000-a-year jobs to graduates.

In Chicago, Mrs. Pauline A. Laudenslager, School Division Head of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, says "the biggest offense is in practical nursing." While licenses can be obtained only after the Board of Education's one-year course, some schools "graduate" nurses after a couple of months. The "graduates" then find they can get jobs only as nurses' aides, for which they could have been trained free by the Red Cross. Charn schools which offer airline hostess training to girls who could not possibly qualify for the hostess jobs are a nagging swindle too.

In California and Ohio recently, authorities also have cracked down on private trade schools deliberately misleading applicants into paying for inadequate training or for training for non-existent jobs.

The plain fact is that although some states effectively regulate private schools others do not. What, then, are safeguards the U.S. government is proposing to help states evaluate private trade schools before they become part of the Federal Manpower Training Program?

The schools will have to submit documentary proof of their accreditation status to an appropriate state body (The State Employment Security Agencies and the State Boards for Vocational Education will be in charge of the program, a built-in protection in itself). They'll have to submit proof of their job placement records to indicate the value of their training courses. Their teachers will have to meet state standards, meaning no so-called expert can be pulled in to "teach." Their courses will have to be passed by the state education boards — and most importantly, measured against knowledge of what skills are required for specific jobs found to be available. They'll have to open to inspection by state experts their facilities and financial records.

Safeguards Reassuring The safeguards being prepared appear reassuring but still the danger that the Manpower Act will spur the phony into action is clear.

Even though the vast majority of private trade schools are entirely legitimate, it's only common sense to check any school with a state regulatory or policing agency before you sign up for training.

When and as the manpower training program gets underway, it's only common sense to go to your State Employment office, find out if you're eligible and for what benefits, then be guided from there. It's bad enough to be jobless. To be jobless and then swindled is compounding misery.

Lawrence Says Kennedy Didn't Tell All About Economic Story President Spoke More Like Politician Than Representative

BY DAVID LAWRENCE WASHINGTON—President Kennedy said over television and radio Monday that he was speaking as the only American official, along with the vice president, elected by all of the people in all of the 50 states. But, unfortunately, he spoke as a politician seeking re-election, and he did not tell the people the whole story of the economic plight that confronts them.

Kennedy said not a word about the cause of the last two recessions and not a word about the news development that happened the same day he spoke which can bring on the next recession—an arbitrary rise in wage costs which could materially reduce, if not wipe out, most corporate profits.

What Good? For there appeared on the front pages of many newspapers—the same morning that the president's speech was printed—the most important piece of news that has struck the business world since the 1959 strike in steel. It was announced by the executive council of the AFL-CIO—which comprises some 17,000,000 members—that it had by formal resolution decided to demand a 35-hour work week and will insist on the same take-home pay as is being received for the 40-hour work week and will insist beyond 35 hours would have to be paid for, not just on the basis of one and one-half times the hourly rate as at present, but at twice the hourly rate. The President has known for some time about this plan.

Where is American business going? He is convinced that the tax cuts will release money that will create jobs and increase production, but he has failed to qualify his statement with a cautionary note that this cannot happen if hour work week and will insist on the same take-home pay as is being received for the 40-hour work week and will insist beyond 35 hours would have to be paid for, not just on the basis of one and one-half times the hourly rate as at present, but at twice the hourly rate. The President has known for some time about this plan.

Americans Getting Used to Being Beaten by Soviets in Space Race

National Feeling Summed Up Into 'Someone Has Goofed'

BY JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP)—There's national mood. While acknowledging the Soviet achievement, he said: "Earth satellites, in themselves, have no direct present effect upon the nation's security."

This was cold comfort for a nation which liked to think it led the world in scientific accomplishments. After all, it was the United States which had invented the atomic bomb.

A Senate investigation was held. Several steps were taken to speed up space development. To some optimists it might have seemed only a matter of a short time before this country would sail out in front.

It didn't work out that way. The Russians still figured to be out in front for a long time for this reason: They had developed larger and more powerful rockets, able to carry bigger loads, than the United States.

Rig Lift American spirits got a big lift when on Jan. 31, 1958, this country put its first satellite, Explorer 6, into orbit. But a Washington Democrat, Sen. Henry Jackson, warned that it was no time to be smug or complacent.

It was a wise thought. A year stand why Lt. Col. John H. Glenn was sent another satellite, Lunik 1, national hero when he went past the moon and into orbit around the earth three times. Three months had restored the national ego.

Since Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott stored a bit when the United States put a satellite, Pioneer IV, into orbit.

It was short-lived satisfaction. On Sept. 14, 1958, the Russians hit the moon just as Premier Khrushchev arrived in this country to crow about it. And on April 12, 1961, they hit the jackpot.

First Man They sent Maj. Yuri Gagarin—the first man in space—into one orbit around the earth. President Kennedy conceded at a news conference it would take this country some time to put heavy payloads into space.

Americans said things like "fantastic" and "amazing" there was a kind of general debate on how to improve the situation, and a Pennsylvania Republican, Rep. James G. Fulton, expressed the national mood best: "I'm darn well tired of coming in second."

Within the next three months this country put two men into a suborbital flight—Cmdr. Alan Shepard Jr. and Capt. Virgil I. Grissom—but their brief flights, although heartening, were no match for Gagarin's.

Show Superiority And, as if to prove it, on Aug. 6, 1961, the Russians showed their superiority in space by launching around the earth so many times that they could have reached the moon and beyond.

It was almost as if the Russians were singing a song: "Anything You Can Do, We Can Do Better."

And Americans, no longer angry, had to get used to the song for Kennedy said: "We are behind and will be for some time."

But a Wisconsin Republican, Sen. Alexander Wiley, seemed to sum up the national feeling best. He said: "Facts are facts. Someone has goofed."

A second shock came a month later when the Russians put a dog in orbit. Animal lovers protested. Future historians, though, may be puzzled why no one protested later when men were put in orbit.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles acknowledged the Russians were ahead. President Eisenhower sought to soothe the unhappy people or tell them the full story of the economic dangers that really confront them today.

Federal Reserve Unit To Hear Arguments on Beloit Bank Proposal

CHICAGO (AP)—A Federal Reserve Board hearing on the application of the Marine Corp., Milwaukee, to acquire majority stock control of the Beloit (Wis.) State Bank shifted to Beloit today.

The Beloit hearing was scheduled to hear testimony against the proposal. The Wisconsin banking commissioner has recommended denial of the application.

The Marine Corp. has proposed to acquire 80 per cent or more of the young stock in the Beloit bank.

Witnesses favorable to the application told the board Tuesday that such control would enable the Beloit bank to offer more competition to larger banks in the Beloit area.

Three witnesses said the state bank has been losing industrial loan accounts to larger banks.

Airline Head Says Green Bay Paper Misquoted Him on Issue

The realization that a new Outagamie County Airport could be from the airline's Minneapolis come the hub of jet service to the headquarters.

Fox River Valley came just a day before the county's effort to pay for the airport began.

Today the executive committee of the county board opened bids for the $2.8 million in bonds that would pay for the new airport. Mueller, state aeronautics director, said the county board will be served by Green Bay because of its request to accept one of the bids.

The Fox Cities learned Tuesday that the new airport could be in the Fox Valley to the Fox River Valley. Mueller said only airport in the Fox Valley to be served by North Central Airlines jets, when the airline converts to jets in the next two to four years.

Buckley Agrees No Need for Railroad Property Cost Study

Ald. George Buckley has withdrawn his resolution calling for an appraisal of the Chicago and North Western Railroad property between Appleton and Oneida streets.

Buckley appeared at Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the Appleton board of public works to request withdrawal of his resolution.

At last Thursday's meeting of the finance committee, Ald. Alvin Tews said he objected to the city hiring an attorney to determine ownership of North Street between Oneida and Superior streets and hiring an appraiser to evaluate the railroad property because the city council has never voted to extend North Street to Taylor Street and $50 for his conduct during the course of the appraisal.

Buckley told Tews at Tuesday's meeting that he was in agreement. The board then dropped Buckley's resolution to hire an appraiser.

Brown County Unit Asks Study For Port Fight

Wants to Compile Data for Hearing On Jet Service

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Brown County Board Airport Committee Monday proposed a commercial study at a cost of about $15,000 to compile economic data for coming contests over airline service and regional airport designation.

The committee will make its request to the board, probably at its Aug. 21 meeting. The Airport Committee proposes to hire an aviation consulting firm active in the field of economic and traffic analysis.

See Jet Battle

The recommendation was made with a view toward coming hearings ordered by the Civil Aeronautics Board on the regional airport concept for Wisconsin. But the committee also is faced with compiling statistics for a long-range contest over designation of a Fox Valley regional airport for jet service.

An economic study was suggested to the committee by T. K. Jordan, state aeronautics director. It would include such factors as home addresses of air passengers using Austin Straubel Field and need for additional airline service in the future.

Pairs of Cities

The CAB hearings on regional airports pose the question of serving pairs of cities with commercial service through a single airport.

The hearing order places Green Bay and Clintonville together as a pair for examination and makes another pair of Oshkosh and Appleton. But the question of the eventual jet stop in the Fox Valley is viewed as part of the investigation.

The other points in the CAB study are Ashland-Ironwood, La Crosse-Winona, Land O' Lakes-Rhineland, and the Wisconsin Valley points of Marshfield, Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids and Stevens Point. North Central Airlines serves all the points now.

Pair's Death Not Caused by Green Bay Firm

MADISON (AP)—Circuit Judge Richard Bardwell held in a decision announced Tuesday that the State Industrial Commission erred in holding a Green Bay firm violated a safety order in connection with the deaths of two workmen.

Bardwell held that the commission improperly stated the principle of law when it held the accident could have been avoided if the job site was safe.

The state agency on June 1, 1961 found the Lloyd Kisper and Son Company guilty of violating a commission safety order and directed the firm to pay 15 percent increased compensation because of the deaths of the two workers, Richard Micolichuk, 21, and Ervin Liss, 40, both of Green Bay, were injured fatally Dec. 12, 1960, in a cave-in while working on a sewer laying job.

The company appealed the commission's findings to Circuit Court.

Fourth Man Faces Sodomy Charges in Oshkosh Court

OSHKOSH — Harold McCandless, 33, 209 1/2 Division St., Neenah, pleaded guilty this morning to sodomy, thus bringing to four the number of persons arraigned in Winnebago County Court on sodomy charges, and to six the number of persons involved.

Judge Arnold J. Cane, substituting for vacationing Judge James V. Sitter, set sentencing of McCandless for Aug. 24 and ordered $500 bond, the same as the other three.

McCandless admitted taking part in an unnatural sex act Feb. 10 with Fred Kaerwer, 57, 742 E. Irving Ave., Oshkosh. Kaerwer was previously arraigned but has not entered a plea.

Gerald Goessl, 34, 515 Keyes St., Menasha, has pleaded guilty and Edward Miller, 47, 1313 Harrison St., Neenah, has asked for a preliminary hearing.

Miller's hearing will be Friday while further proceedings in the other three cases are set for Aug. 24.

Two other men, one now a patient at Winnebago State Hospital, and another who was on conditional release from the hospital, were implicated but no court action is planned in their cases.

The ring was discovered after intensive investigation by the Menasha Police Department.

Appleton Elm Trees Free of Disease

Department of Agriculture Specialist Checked 6,250 Tuesday

Elm trees in Appleton have not been infected by the dread Dutch Elm disease, Larry Fenton, U. S. Department of Agriculture tree disease specialist, reports.

Fenton and Roger Rindt, park forester, Appleton, surveyed 6,250 trees in Appleton Tuesday. Galleries of the Japanese elm bark beetles, carriers of the disease, were found in two trees at the corner of Grant and Hall streets. These trees will have to be removed and burned as a precautionary measure. A large elm cut down at 1235 E. Pershing Street was heavily infested with the beetles.

6-Year-Old Appleton Girl Pursued, Bitten by German Shepherd Dog

Susan Sealy, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sealy, 129 N. Lawe St., was bitten by a German Shepherd dog Tuesday. She is being treated by her family doctor for minor injuries.

Susan told police a boy was holding the dog at the corner of Union and Washington streets and the boy told the dog to "charge" her.

The dog chased the girl to her backyard where she was bitten. The dog is owned by Richard Somers, 114 N. Union St., who told police the dog had all the required shots.

Kimberly Public Works Board Approves Vapor Street Light System

Power Company Representatives Beginning Preliminary Steps Now

KIMBERLY — The village board meeting state requirements, and of public works unofficially approved a new mercury vapor street lighting system for main business streets in the community and authorized representatives of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company to begin preliminary steps toward providing the service.

Five of six village trustees told electrical firm representatives they favored installation of a system on standard poles after it was pointed out the poles initially sought by the village would be used in conjunction with older poles.

The village had asked for poles treated with a clear solution after which they would be varnished to give a rustic appearance. The poles would have looked similar to cedar poles marking the entrance to Sunset Point Park.

Pole Colors Vary

Wisconsin - Michigan Power Company representatives stated 33 poles would be delivered to the city for treatment, but an additional 40 poles, not needing replacement, would remain. That firm also indicated they would be forced to climb these varnished poles, using spikes. Trustees did not favor a two-tone type of pole system and objected to pole damage caused by spikes in making the decision to stick with standard poles.

The mercury vapor system will be located on Kimberly Avenue from the railroad tracks to the Community Bridge and on Main Avenue from Oak Street south to in front of the high school. If final approval is received within the next few weeks, the project could be completed prior to the end of the year, according to power company officials.

Annexation Problem

Representatives of the Van Daalwyk Land Developers Inc. met with the board attempting to explain improvements which would be provided in the area to be annexed. The firm is seeking annexation of less than one square mile of land located north of County Trunk Z and west of the village limits.

Provided in the area would be an eight inch water main to the Fox River with six inch spurs to foot side streets. An 18 inch storm sewer would run the length of the area to the river and smaller feeder lines drain other streets in the area, thus no storm water would enter existing village lines, according to speakers for the firm.

A four inch sanitary sewer line,

Gasoline War Wages After Brief Peace

Off Brands Cut Prices, but Not To Previous Level

Once again the gas war wages. After only a short rest, most off-brand and some name brand gasoline dealers have cut their prices and are doing battle with each other.

Prices of off-brand regular gasoline grades are at 28.9 and ethyl grades are at 30.9. The price cuts came over the weekend on Monday. One major brand has met those prices.

Only two weeks ago, a short battle started.

Prices of off brands were cut to 27.9 for regular and 29.9 for ethyl. More name brands were involved in that war, selling at Greenville. The field will replace 29.9 for regular and 33.9 for ethyl, the present county airport which on the whole, the cuts put prices has been declared obsolete.

Four cents per gallon below normal prices. The cuts in the present war about three cents per gallon under normal.

Civil Defense Unit Gets Supply Of Gas Masks

Trinity Pastor Discusses Acid Test of Faith

Rev. Kindem Says False Prophets Must be Overcome

"There are forces within us and outside of us that are seeking to destroy our faith. These must be recognized and overcome so that our faith is continuously renewed." The Rev. Ingolf B. Kindem, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church said in a sermon Sunday on "The Acid Test of Faith."

"The difficulty with these enemies of our faith is that they are difficult to recognize, for appearances are deceiving," he said. One way is that they appeal to our ego, as the serpent did with Eve in the Garden of Eden, he said. "In the same way an appeal may be made to our ego — something we can obtain of a God-like quality, for God does not really mean what He says. If we believe these words, from no matter what source, and act upon them we are led, like Eve, to violate God's Word and so fail in the acid test of our faith."

Time of Crisis
The test can also be experienced the time of a crisis, he continued. "If crises come into your life and you are encouraged by help that involves the abandonment of your Christian faith this is the acid test of your faith and it must be met without failure."

Sometimes the test comes through the pressures of conformity, Pastor Kindem said. He gave us an example of the teen-ager who comes in conflict with the law because he wants to be with a certain group he admires. We can tell the false prophet who tempts us from the true one by his fruits, the pastor said and these fruits are produced by doing the will of the Father which involves both right doctrine and right behavior.

Concerned for Lord
"The morality of the false prophet is characterized by self-seeking instead of seeking the kingdom for its own sake, where as the true prophet is solely concerned for his Lord and His teaching and for winning people to his Lord," he said. "When we realize that the prophetic office is occupied by all of us who bear influence upon others dependent upon or associated with us, it brings this problem home to us, lest we ourselves are serving as false prophets of our Lord, in doctrine and life, in our relations with others," he went on.

"In marriage, the recurrent renewal of the bond of love is by union with Christ and His church so that in Him we are made one," he said. "This is no less true in the recurrent renewal of our confession of faith in Christ as Lord and Savior."

"Loyalty of faith is retained by discerning and overcome the false prophets who would seek to destroy our faith," Pastor Kindem concluded. "In a positive sense, this can best be done by regular and thorough study of God's word and fellowship in Christ's church so that as His sheep we will know His voice and will not follow after any stranger."

'Tiny' Clues Lead Police To Culprits

Thief Claims Stolen Articles Were Things 'I've Always Wanted'

Sheriff department officials who found "tiny" fingerprints at the scene of a break-in in Shiocton, came up with their "men" Monday after a short investigation. Aloys Vandenberg, 1145 Depot St., Little Chute, reported Monday his dry goods store in Shiocton had been burglarized, of about $75 in merchandise and small change. Vandenberg said he had an eyewitness to the whole thing. Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke and Patrolman Irv Partika questioned a 10-year-old youth who said he had been "pushed down" Sunday by an "older boy" who had come through the window of Van's Dry Goods Store, Main St., and had gotten into a car.

Stowed Loot
The witness said he saw the older boy hide the loot under a porch and when investigators searched, they found several watches, some change and other merchandise.

But the witness couldn't explain the presence of a "tiny" set of fingerprints found near where a window had been forced. And the witness couldn't explain where he suddenly, Monday morning came into enough money to buy two hamburgers and a malted milk for breakfast. Confronted with the facts, the

Dismiss Fur Theft Charges, Lawyer Moves

Claims Evidence Against Defendants
Seized Illegally

Motions to dismiss a $2,000 fur theft charge against four Chicago Negroes and to disallow certain evidence on the grounds it was seized illegally will be heard in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 on Oct. 4.

The motions and four affidavits of prejudice Judge Gustave Keller were introduced early this morning at arraignment proceedings for Miss Geraldine Gay, 29, Miss Angela Jones and Willie J. Williams, both 23, and Eddie King, 26.

Judge Keller denied the affidavits, ruling they were not submitted prior to the preliminary hearing.

Held in Kenosha

Williams was delayed in reaching the court today and had to be bailed out of a Kenosha jail where he had been held since he was arrested for speeding early this morning. Williams was driving from Chicago to Appleton when he was arrested.

Miss Gay and Miss Jones, along with Williams, were released after today's proceedings on $5,000 bond. King, who has failed to post bond, is being held in the Outagamie County jail.

The motion to dismiss charges against the four who allegedly took two fur pieces from the Geenen Department Store April 15 maintained that a preliminary hearing July 25 produced no competent testimony.

Hearing "Incomplete"

The motion also stated the preliminary hearing was "incomplete" and the constitutional rights of the defendants were not protected prior to their arrests April 17.

The motion to suppress the evidence stated that items taken from a car in which the defendants were riding in when they were arrested were seized illegally.

King, who missed the July 25 preliminary hearing because he was being held in Portage County without bond, waived a preliminary hearing today, prior to the admission of the motions by his attorneys. King was released from the Portage County jail and brought to the Outagamie County jail last Monday.

Theft charges against Williams and King in Winnebago County were dropped by Judge James Sitter last week after a preliminary hearing there.

Neenah Council to Hold Four Hearings Tonight

NEENAH — Four public hearings have been slated for tonight's regular session of the Neenah council.

The hearings concern special assessments for improvements on three city streets, amendment of the official city map street extension plan, and two changes of the city zoning ordinance and zoning district map.

The hearing on special assessments for street improvements deals with curb, gutter and bituminous concrete paving on Cecil Street, from Meadowlane to Tullar Road; curb, gutter and bituminous concrete paving on Gillingham Road, from Gay Drive to Laurel Court; sanitary sewer, water laterals, water mains, water taps, grading and graveling on the cut-de-sac on Pembroke Drive.

Assessment Rate

The proposed rate of assessment to property owners fronting on Cecil Street is $8.354 per front foot, while the rate for improvements on Gillingham Road is $14 per front foot. No credit will be allowed for corner lots, Hauser indicated. All objections to the assessments will be heard this evening, after which time the amount of assessment will be determined finally.

The proposed amendment to the street extension plan recommends removal of portion of the north-south road on the centerline of Section 31, alignment of the east-west road on the centerline of the same section, and addition of a north-south road 350 feet east of the section's centerline.

The two changes recommended to the city zoning ordinance are to add bulk shops to commercial district classification and to change from two-family residence district to commercial district the Donald Brothers property at 238 Donald Ave.

Africans Ambush Police Patrol, Free Suspects

desia (AP) — About 60 Africans ambushed a police patrol Tuesday and freed three suspects held for questioning in connection with a wave of arson in the Lupani area, officials said.

Strong contingents of police left Bulawayo and Salisbury for Lupani where nine schools and a courthouse have been gutted.

Hit Truck

Conger and his wife were injured about 3:45 p.m. Monday when the car they were in collided with a truck at U.S. 41 and Spencer Road. The truck driver, James Heenan, route 1, Appleton, was not injured. Mrs. Conger was treated for cuts and a chest injury and released Tuesday.

Conger was driving north on U.S. 41 when the collision occurred. The truck was being driven east on Spencer Road.

Brokers were encouraged by the market's ability to remain above the so-called 600 barrier in the Dow Jones industrial average. The average was up 4.81 at 606.71 at noon.

There were two other favorable overnight items: a gain in housing starts and the freeing of almost $2 billion in federal funds for increased road building.

Auto shares were fractionally higher as the industry talked about next year being the second good year in a row. Chrysler, which is previewing 1963 models for the press, was up almost 1.

Republic and Jones & Laughlin led the steels with gains of around 1.

Among the aircrafts, which have been strong this week, North American was higher by more than 1.

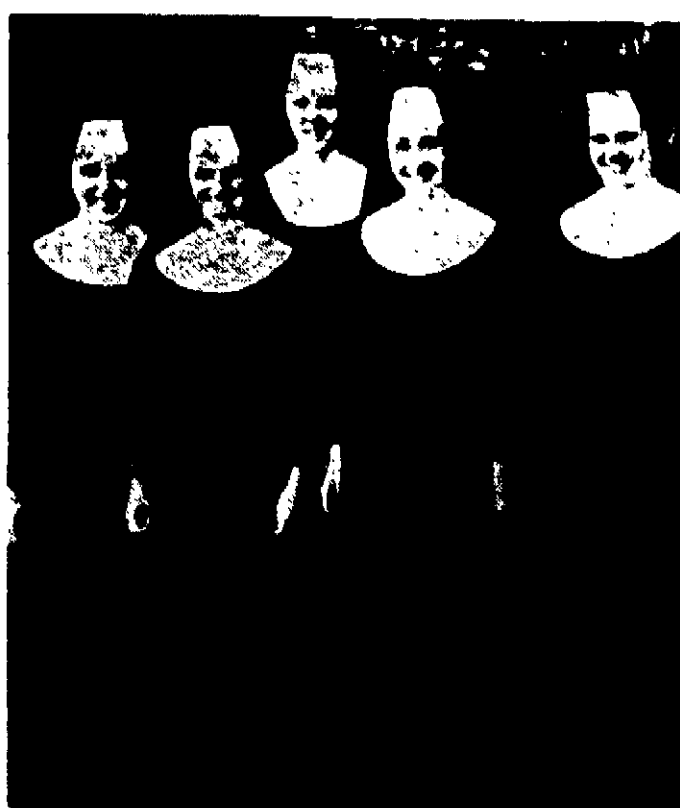

Among the higher-priced issues, IBM gained over 6. Litton Industries about 3 and Xerox about 4. AT&T and RCA, two international carriers which would take part in the proposed communications satellite corporation, each added about 1.

Bond prices advanced in more active trading than during recent sessions.

Real Make Believe

Young Imagination Seen in 'Snow White'

A little imagination can go a long way, and no one is better at that game than children.

Children held the spotlight when the Appleton Recreation Department put on "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs" at Madison Jr. High School Tuesday afternoon.

Children overflowed auditorium seats. With their uncritical minds and readiness to "make believe," no audience could have been more empathetic.

Displaying youthful earnest and just a little bit of impishness, the young actors, ages nine and up, enacted and sang the story of the beautiful princess Snow White, plotted against by a jealous and wicked queen. Because of the kindness of the hunter assigned to kill her and the seven dwarfs in the forest, Snow White survives her mother's conniving and lives to marry the foreign prince who loves her.

Leading Roles

Amy Worthen was a pretty Snow White, and carried off her singing parts well. Todd Wetzel as the handsome prince sang through several of the longer numbers with ease and a high, pleasant voice.

Striking in her emotional variance and stage poise, Penny Clemons did an outstanding job as the haughty queen.

The clear soprano voices of the large chorus added vitality and body to the players' numbers.

Production Work

The playground leaders did a lot with a little in building the three sets. They added color and professionalism to the show.

Robert Krueger, dramatic director, and Rhonda Cundy, chorus director, proved hard work, patience and a willing cast can turn out a fresh and delightful "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs."

This fourth annual play by the department can be seen Wednesday night at 8 at Madison Jr. High School.

Haunted Boy Captures Mystery Spot

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Mystery Theatre's "Cry Run" is the frightening and suspenseful story of a youth who thinks he has killed but hasn't, but still might. Keir Dullea plays the son of a senator, whose nervous breakdown is equipped with such weapons as knives, chisels and pitchforks. When he realizes that he really didn't kill that man in the barn, he runs away and all the amateur psychologists around predict that now he really may commit murder. And he almost does, too.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "His silence has got me very worried." Omit "got," and say, "very much worried."

Often Mispronounced: Scintilla (spark). Pronounce sin-till-a, accent on second syllable.

Often Misspelled: Statuary (collection of statues). Statutory (established by law or statute).

Synonyms: Riotous, boisterous, lawless, disorderly, turbulent, violent.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Comity, politeness, courtesy, mildness. (Pronounce kalm-i-ti, accent first syllable). "The coarse actor was improperly cast in a role requiring comity."

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — Focus On America presents a documentary from Los Angeles this week which looks at the night life of the city. It begins when most people go to bed. It gives you a different view of a big city.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — Keir Dullea (a busy boy tonight) is a disturbed artist on Checkmate's repeat at the same time as he and young Mike McGreevey have a disturbed artist on Mystery Theatre. With Checkmate he has the sympathetic help of art teacher Dina Merrill and the careful guidance of the Checkmates. But Naked City cops and stumbles on one of them can prevent his violent outbursts.

8-9 (Channel 11) — Hawaiian Eyes repeat was concocted for only one purpose — to display Dorothy Provine. This feeble little mystery gives her a chance to emote — she must show fear, bravery, love. She manages moderately well.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Dick Van Dyke Show's repeat has compassion for the old tonight. Because Laura (Mary Tyler Moore) buys a tie, Dick renews acquaintance with his first comedy writer boss (Jay C. Flippen) who is

9-10 (Channel 11) — Naked City Dullea (a busy boy tonight) is a repeats a fine tour de force for two actors, with Jack Warden repeat at the same time as he and young Mike McGreevey have a disturbed artist on Mystery Theatre. With Checkmate he has the sympathetic help of art teacher Dina Merrill and the careful guidance of the Checkmates. But Naked City cops and stumbles on one of them can prevent his violent outbursts.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Circle Theatre's repeat may have you weeping tonight, but it will be happy weeping. "The Man Who Refused to Die" is an effective, dramatic story about people helping one another.

10:10-12 (Channel 4-5) — To-night's guests are Bob and Ray, Paul Dooley and Louis L'Amour. (Color)

Funerals in Hollywood Often Become Tragic

Because of Fans Conduct, Sad Occasions Can Turn Into Brawls

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a sequence in "A Star is Born"—both the Janet Gaynor and the Judy Garland versions—in which the movie actress is mobbed at the funeral of her actor-husband.

Outlandish? Over-dramatic? Alas, it was not far from the truth. The least attractive aspect of covering the Hollywood scene is reporting funerals. I have seen all kinds, from those marked by quiet dignity to ones that seemed right out of "A Star is Born."

Last week's services for Marilyn Monroe were conducted in a decorous manner with little of the bad taste that can affect such events. The small cemetery was heavily policed on the outside by Los Angeles officers and the inside by policemen assigned from several studios.

None of the public was admitted within the cemetery walls. Those who waited outside the gate or watched over the walls were properly subdued. Perhaps it was the heat (93 degrees) or the lack of star names or the realization of the tragedy involved.

Bad Day
The all-time low was reached with rites for Tyrone Power. That day could have made a misanthrope of Dr. Schweitzer.

All the creeps were out in force, and little effort was made to keep them in check. They swooped through the cemetery to stare at the interment, stamping over graves and knocking down flowers. One bystander was pushed in a lake.

The funerals of Lionel and Ethel Barrymore, figures of massive dignity in their lifetimes, were both marred by noisy, restive crowds that drowned out the religious intonations within the church. After both occasions, the mob swept through the place like locusts and picked the floral sprays clean.

A Hollywood synagogue was the scene of a near riot the day Al Jolson was buried. A screaming crowd largely of middle-aged females had to be pushed away from the doors after the place became filled.

These have been the exceptions. I'm happy to say. In most cases the undertakers and—or the studios involved have the good sense to take precautions against the depredations of the mob. It is easily managed. By keeping the public a respectful distance from the place of mourning.

There have been many funerals of Hollywood famous in recent times and most have been conducted in a fitting manner. Those of Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Errol Flynn and others have been without embarrassing events.

To my mind the most appropriate of final rites was conducted for Humphrey Bogart. His wasted body was buried in complete privacy. His many friends gathered for a memorial service in a Beverly Hills church. John Huston delivered a touching tribute. Bogie was represented by a replica of his much-loved boat, the Santana.

MADISON — Studies leading to the revision of the long and complex chapters of the Wisconsin statutes dealing with real estate have been launched under the auspices of the State Bar of Wisconsin.

Prof. Richard W. Effland of the University of Wisconsin Law School has taken a leave of absence for a year to be the research director of the project, which is divided into four major sections to handle the major chapters of the Wisconsin law code covering property.

A Bar bulletin today said it may be a year before the completed project can be submitted to the bar organization for its review and approval, which apparently means that legislation cannot be introduced until the convening of the legislative session of 1965.

Section Director
Chairman of the general project is Robert C. Lovejoy of Janesville, who has named section leaders for the work in estates and trusts, conveying dower descent and wills, and landlord and tenant. Among the section directors is James Ward Rector of Milwaukee, once a member of the state supreme court of Wisconsin. Effland asked for suggestions from practicing lawyers and other state lawyers' organization.
